Seamus had 18 on us in the first half and seven in the second half, and Jayden just really stayed on him most of the second half. Everyone of our players had their spots tonight where they did something big for us."

Hofer said his team has a lot of weapons, and sometimes opponents can become focused on Wedel and Ulvestad. "Teams sometimes forget about guys like Cole. And Cole did a great job of attacking the basket tonight and he is a great ball-handler."

JVC really put on a show a couple of times with its teamwork and passing skills. In the third quarter, Wedel tipped an offensive rebound to Wager who passed to Glanzer who passed to Jayden Waldner who scored during a split-second play.

The Vikings' defense also shined by forcing Centerville into 21 turnovers. "Our defense was really important tonight because we turned a lot of those turnovers into points," Ulvestad said. "Our guards just wear out the other team."

Like JVC, the Centerville standouts did their jobs as Seamus O'Malley scored 25 — along with eight rebounds, four steals and two assists, Rory O'Malley 14 and Josh DeRaad 11. But their teammates such as Christian Gruschin, Jacob Kotvold and Tyrell Martz had their moments as well. Gruschin had 11 rebounds and eight points, Skotvold scored five and Martz helped spark the third-quarter rally.

Centerville (17-7) will play Faith (19-4) at noon today (Friday) in the consolation semifinals.
