title, he accepted the head-coaching job with the NBA's Orlando Magic, then changed his mind after the introductory news conference.

Donovan continued to produce winning teams at Florida, but the biggest wins eluded the Gators. They lost in the regional final each of the past three seasons.

That changed when the ferocious Gators (36-2) rode their chomping defense through a 30-game winning streak capped by Saturday's 62-52 win over bracket darling Dayton.

"We didn't start off the exact way that we should have, but coach Donovan continued to remind us and humble us and help us see that, in order to get where we want to get to, the end goal, we have to continue to chase greatness every single day and stay in the moment," Florida forward Patric Young said.

To win another title, the Gators will have to go through the last two teams to beat them this season (UConn and Wisconsin) or their biggest SEC rival (Kentucky).

The Huskies won the 2011 national title with coach Jim Calhoun and one-man show Kemba Walker.

Things went sour in Storrs after that. Calhoun retired in 2012 and UConn was barred from the NCAA tournament last season for failing to meet the NCAA's academic progress measure.

UConn's upperclassmen decided to stick it out instead of transferring and put together another magical bracket run behind another do-it-all-player, former Walker understudy Napier. With their 60-54 win over Michigan State on Sunday, the Huskies (30-8) became the first No. 7 seed to reach the Final Four since the tournament expanded to 64 teams in 1985.

UConn beat Florida 65-64 way back on Dec. 2, the Gators' last loss this season.

"We play a great Florida team and we're going to be well prepared, because I know about these guys' heart, and that's what got us through," Ollie said.

Then there's Bo. Wisconsin's tell-it-like-it-is coach had been a regular at the Final Four, taking his father, Butch, to every one since 1976 as a birthday gift.

Bo had a hard time getting there with his team, though, winning over 700 games, playing in the NCAA tournament 13 straight years and reaching the Sweet 16 six times — and not one trip to the Final Four.

Bo and Badgers (30-8) get their chance now after pulling out an emotional 64-63 win over top-seeded Arizona in the West Regional final on Saturday, which would have been a couple of the younger girls to step in and fill their shoes," Sime said. "Our experience level is not as high as it's been in the last couple of years. It's going to be a work in progress, but I think with the core group of girls we have we can still go out and be competitive and maybe try and get into the top half of the conference still."

Frick says that practice is key in order for the team to gain much needed experience.

"We're going to try to get on the course as much as we can. We'll try to play a lot and practice our short game, since that's what counts in the long run," Frick said.

"The biggest thing is to go out everyday and try to make ourselves better. It's going to be a work in progress," Sime agreed. "For the most part, we'll have to work on everything. Each girl has an individual strength and an individual weakness. We'll assess those and try to get the girls to work on their weaknesses in order to turn them into strengths."

The team faces another challenge for the upcoming season. Unlike last year, the majority of the tournaments the Gazelles will play in are away.

"Being away does put us at a bit of a disadvantage since we don't know the courses as well," Sime said. "Some of the girls who have been around for a few years have seen most of the courses before. So they'll know those pretty well and I'll expect them to talk to the others and tell they what to expect."

Despite the disadvantage, Sime sees this season as a good opportunity for his newest players.

"That's what's fun about golf. Some of those girls who haven't had the chance to play golf before will get to travel to play on the courses for free. You get to hang out and meet some new people."
