"This event is both an opportunity to recognize the Officer of the Year of four Local Law Enforcement Agencies and to raise money for worthy causes in the community," states Committee Chairman Ted Risty. "The club has been hosting this event for close to 40 years and is proud of what it has come to represent in Yankton."

The OutBack Band will be providing entertainment once again. Playing a mix of Country Western and Classic Rock, the group loves to encourage audience participation to enhance the fun. Officer of year awards will be presented at 9 p.m.

Tickets for the Dance can be purchased from any Yankton Lions Club member or at the door. Proceeds will be donated to the Yankton Women's Center/Shelter, Yankton Child Protection Team, Contact Center and D.A.R.E. programs.

March Brown Bag To Discuss Alzheimers

A diagnosis of Alzheimer's Disease is scary and unsettling. The March 6 Brown Bag Lunch, to be held at noon at the Dakota Territorial Museum, will deal with the history of the disease. The program will feature Ellen McVay, who had that diagnosis, and her husband, Dr. Michael McVay, who has taken on the role of caregiver. Feel their struggles and enjoy their triumphs as you hear their story.

Also featured will be Karen Nielsen Wingett, daughter of "Hod" and Anita O'Rielly Nielsen. Wingett has written and will read from a book of poems which explore her parents' struggles with aging and Alzheimer's.

The museum's monthly Brown Bags are the first Friday of each month and are open to the public. There is no charge, but a free will donation is accepted.
