USD's Lervick Named Summit League Golfer Of Week

ELMHURST, Ill. — South Dakota golfer Brenna Lervick was named the Summit League's Female Golfer of the Week on Wednesday after recording a runner-up finish at the SDSU Jackrabbitt Invitational. It's her second Golfer of the Week honor this season.
 Lervick, a sophomore out of Chanhassen, Minn., finished the 54-hole tournament on Tuesday with a score of four-under-par (71-69-72-21). She was tied for first place at the end of regulation, but lost in a playoff. Lervick broke her collegiate best 54-hole score by six strokes and recorded the tournament's second-best round with a 69 during the second round.
 Lervick also competed at the Pizza Hut Lady Thunderbird Invitational within the past week, finishing in a tie for 20th with a two-round score of 12-over-par (80-76-156). Over the week, she had three rounds of par or lower and had an average round of 73.6 strokes.
 The USD women will next compete at the Bradley Spring Invite on April 3-4.

T&F: Five 'Yotes Named Academic All-Summit

ELMHURST, Ill.—Five South Dakota track and field athletes were named to the Summit League Indoor Track and Field Academic All-League teams, as announced by the league office on Wednesday. Juniors Amber Eichorn and Katie Wetzstein represent the Coyote women, while senior Taylor Chapman, senior Jeff O'Connell and junior Josh Peterson made the men's team.
 Eichorn collects her first academic honor for track and field. She made the USTFCCA All-Academic and Academic All-Summit League teams for cross country last fall.
 Chapman, O'Connell and Peterson helped South Dakota capture its third consecutive Summit League Indoor Championship title.
 To be eligible for the Academic All-Summit League team, a student-athlete needed to have a minimum grade point average of 3.30, completed at least one full academic year at the institution and competed in at least 50 percent of their team's meets. Ten student-athletes were selected for each team based on votes by the institutions' faculty athletic representatives and sports information directors.

Nebraska's Riley Must Pick And Choose What Offense Can Do

BY ERIC OLSON
 AP College Football Writer
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Halfway through his first spring practice at Nebraska, coach Mike Riley already has a hunch the entirety of his pro-style offense won't be game-ready come fall.
 "I'm impressed with a lot of the volume we have in," he said Wednesday. "I'm not impressed with how we execute it."
 The Cornhuskers practice again Friday and then go on spring break. They'll return March 30. In the interim, Riley and his staff will study practice video and pare back the number of plays they'll work on the rest of the spring.
 "We actually have to pull back a little bit and focus in on stuff to finish with," he said, "so we head into fall camp being pretty good at a few things and not average at a whole bunch of stuff. That's my biggest concern."
 The ground game appears to be in good shape, and De'Mornay Pierson-El is the best of the receivers at run-napping the jet sweep, which is a staple in Riley's system.

 The passing game needs polish. Riley said the quarterbacks need to complete a higher percentage and cut down on interceptions.
 "We've got a lot to learn — if we're going to do more drop-back passing — about reading coverages and knowing where to go with the football faster," Riley said. "They have to see it quicker and get the ball out faster. Otherwise, we're going to get sacked a lot."
 Presumptive starter Tommy Armstrong Jr. stood on the sideline for Wednesday's practice because of tightness and spasms in his lower back.
 Armstrong said he and the other quarterbacks are struggling with interceptions because they tend to fall into habits learned in the offensive system under the previous coaching staff. He said he was accustomed to receivers adjusting their routes certain ways depending on the coverage.
 Pierson-El said new route adjustments will be learned once the players delve more deeply into Riley's offense.
 Until then, Armstrong said, "When we call one play, that's what the play is going to be."
 Even things that would be considered simple, like quarterback cadence and calling plays in a huddle, must be learned. In the past, quarterbacks signaled for snaps by clapping, and the Huskers called plays at the line of scrimmage.
 "It's not hard for me because I've just got to stand back and let those guys form a huddle, get the play in and let them know what it is," Armstrong said. "Certain guys on the team needed to get used to running back and getting into a huddle rather than running back and getting on the line. It's nothing major for us. Just have to get used to it."
 Pierson-El said the second half of spring practice will be better than the first.
 "It's going to take longer than two weeks," he said. "We need more reps and time for all the pieces to fall into place."

Jones Powers Robert Morris Past North Florida

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Lucky Jones scored 21 points, including a key free throw, Rodney Pryor had 20 and Marquise Reed 19 to lead Robert Morris back from a 14-point second-half deficit to beat North Florida 81-77 on Wednesday night in the First Four.
 The Colonials (20-14), who won the Northeast Conference Tournament to get into the field as a 16 seed, now meet top-seeded Duke in the second round on Friday in Charlotte.
 As the final seconds ticked off, jubilant fans chanted, "We want Duke! We want Duke!"
 Elijah Minnie added 12 points and 10 rebounds for the Colonials, who scored 21 points off North Florida's 19 turnovers.
 Beau Beech finished with 28 points for the Ospreys (23-12), champs of the Atlantic Sun Tournament, but didn't have a field goal over the last Tournament, Cornemann figures to again play a key role off the bench for the Jackrabbits.

 The 5-foot-8 guard has played in 38 games and averaged 1.8 points and 1.1 rebounds in 13.5 minutes of action. Cornemann has, though, seen more action of late, averaging 21.7 minutes over the last seven games.
 The experience of having been to the 'Big Dance' before, not to mention a WNIT run last season, no doubt helps Cornemann, she said.
 "I feel like I understand the importance of it, as a junior," she said. "As a freshman you're happy to be there and just excited about the experience."
 Cornemann and the Jacks have the tall task Friday of beating Oregon State on its home floor, where the Beavers are 13-1 this season — the only loss coming to Stanford.
 Oregon State made its first NCAA Tournament appearance in 18 years last season, and it won a first-round game before losing in the second round. The Beavers are led by guard Jamie Weisner (13.7 ppg, 6.3 rpg) and 6-foot-6 center Ruth Hamblin (12.9 ppg, 8.8 rpg, 115 total blocks).

Lancers

Schmidt appeared in seven games for the Lancers, scoring 14 points and recording five rebounds.
 Gebhart started at point guard for the Lancers, averaging 4.4 points and 2.6 rebounds per game. She also had a team-high 104 assists and recorded 28 steals.
 Sutera ranked third on the team in scoring, averaging 10.1 points per game. The forward from Vander led the team with 7.4 rebounds per game and ranked fourth on the team with 40 made three-pointers. She also had 32 assists and 40 steals on the season. Sutera was also recently named the women's Dr. Emil S. Liston Award winner for the GPAC.
