

Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Loan To Tyndall Approved

PIERRE — Gov. Dennis Daugaard says the state Board of Water and Natural Resources has approved a $1.57 million Drinking Water State Revolving Fund loan to Tyndall for drinking water distribution and storage upgrades.

Also, Lesterville as received a $53,000 funding package for a water meter replacement project.

The loan includes $200,000 in principal forgiveness, which leaves $1.37 million for loan repayment. Loan terms are 2.25 percent for 30 years.

The loan will be administered through the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

The project involves replacing the city's existing water tower with a new 200,000-gallon water storage tank and replacing existing cast iron and asbestos concrete pipe with PVC pipe.

The loans will cover the estimated cost of the project.

The Lesterville project involves replacing the town's water meters with remote-read water meters. Lesterville has been experiencing water loss in its drinking water distribution system. The new meters will help the town more accurately monitor water use and evaluate water losses.

The Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Program provides low-interest loans for public drinking water system projects. Principal forgiveness is a subsidy option that results in a reduced loan repayment amount for the borrower.

The Consolidated Water Facilities Construction Program, funded in part by revenues from the sale of lotto tickets, provides grants and loans for water, wastewater and watershed projects. The Legislature appropriates Water and Environment Funds annually to the Consolidated program through the Governor's Omnibus Water Funding Bill.

The board met Thursday and Friday in Pierre.

Poetry Month Celebrated At The Library

April is National Poetry Month. To celebrate, the Yankton Community Library, 515 Walnut, invites you to share your writing talents.

If you would like to submit a poem to the library staff, it will be displayed during National Library Week, April 12-18. The staff asks that all poems submitted have a library or book theme. The poems can be about your favorite book, your favorite character from a book, the act of reading or wherever else your imagination takes you with this theme.

Turn your poems in at the front desk in exchange for a treat. List only your first name on your writing so we can display the poems in the library. All ages are welcome to participate.

For more information, call the library at 668-5276.

Email Addresses Asked By Highway Dept.

Yankton County Highway Department asks that if you want to be considered for emergency work where we are not sending out for bids, provide the department with an email address for our files. Then when this emergency work arises, we will email you for a quote.

Reset Tour Coming To Yankton

BY SHAUNA MARLETTE
shauna.marlette@yankton.net

Take three key concepts — hope, worship and fellowship — mix them together with music and you have the makings of a great evening.

Julie Klinger, vice president of Events and Operations for LifeLight, says the Reset Tour, featuring Aaron Gillespie, Shawn McDonald and Josh Brewer will be just that, when it arrives at the NFAA Easton Yankton Archery Complex Tuesday night.

The event is sponsored by Yankton's First Assembly of God Church.

"LifeLight several years ago started doing tours out to the communities around us," Klinger said. "We love that everyone comes to the main festival, but we wanted to go out and visit other people and bring the ministry out to them. We do that through our tours where we are able to go to many communities in the area. Obviously, it is not as big as the festival but it is a LifeLight feel."

She said Tuesday's concert will have a very acoustic/hipster vibe.

"Aaron Gillespie a lot of kids will know from Underoath, and he is currently drumming for Paramour," Klinger said. "Aaron is one of the most talented guys I have ever seen, especially on the drums and he is so anointed in worship. People will be blown away by what he does and his talent and how he brings it to worship. I have never seen anyone lead worship on the drums; he stands at the drum kit and leads worship. He is really very unique and I think kids will freak out about."

She said that Shawn McDonald, who has been touring the area for years, currently has the No. 1 Christian Rock song — "We Are Brave" — being played on Christian radio.

"He is one of those indie-hipster-pop artists," she said. "This concert is unlike anything we have done before because, in the past, we have always had a full band. I definitely think it is something that everyone will really enjoy."

The idea of the "Reset" tour was inspired by an upcoming event being promoted by the Christian group Pulse out of Minneapolis.

"Pulse has a 'Reset' movement that we have joined, where in 2016 they are hoping to have the biggest Jesus gathering in history in Washington, D.C., at the mall," Klinger said. "Several ministries around the country have joined the movement and so this is actually a Reset/LifeLight-produced tour. It has been cool to partner with other ministries and become something bigger than ourselves, which is always good to do."

However, Brewer added that he wants the message of hope to be taken home from Tuesday's concert.

"Our whole goal is that we want to convey there is still hope in the world," he said. "It can be a very hopeless time; from Ferguson to ISIS and everything in our nation, it can be hard to find hope. Our whole goal is to tell people there is hope and there is a 'Reset' that can bring people back to finding real hope, freedom and joy."

Klinger added that everything LifeLight does is very family focused.

"There are a lot of hurting kids that come to these concerts that find hope and, hopefully, are directed down a better path in their life," she said. "We take our kids and go to a lot of things that don't have a good message behind it just because it is fun, but you are going to go to something fun and get something possibly life changing out of this. That is why we like families to be there all together."

She added that the message that Brewer will share is very inspiring.

"Josh is very young and very appealing, and his story is very powerful," she said. "He just has a heart for the kids; he loves to be out there talking to them using his life story to help them realize anyone can be loved by God. If you are a parent and your kids are going through struggles, you probably want them at this event."

Tickets for the "Reset" Tour are still available by going to www.lifelight.org or they can be purchased locally at Pizza Ranch, Mount Marty College, First Assembly of God Church and the Carpenter Shop. Tickets will be available at the doors, which will open at 6 p.m., with the concert starting at 7 p.m.
