ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals manager Tony La Russa has been diagnosed with shingles and was having tests Tuesday at the Mayo Clinic, and it was uncertain when he would return to the team.

Cardinals general manager John Mozeliak said he was waiting to talk with La Russa for an update on the condition. St. Louis started a series at Chicago on Tuesday night.

Cards Manager La Russa Has Shingles, Return Unsure

Bench coach Joe Pettini will run the Cardinals while La Russa is away. The 66-year-old La Russa is in his 16th season as St. Louis manager.

Pettini said La Russa's condition reached a point where something had to be done.

"He gutted it out for the games. But before the game every day you come in and ask 'How you doing skipper?' and you're hoping to get a little better answer. But every day he would shake his head and say, 'Not any better, not any better.'" Pettini said.

La Russa's problem was initially identified in mid-April as conjunctivitis, an inflammation commonly known as pink eye. But last week he called his illness a viral infection.

The entire right side of La Russa's face was swollen for a while, although La Russa continued to hit fungoes at practice until the last homestand.

Mount Marty College Add Men's Soccer Recruit From Huron

Jeremiah Kiehn of Huron will attend Mount Marty College and participate in men's soccer for the Lancers, the institution announced Tuesday.

Kiehn

Kiehn has twice received First Team All-State and Hispanic League Most Valuable Goalkeeper honors. He was also named team co-captain and co-most valuable player.

"I am pleased that Jeremiah will be joining the team this fall. He has a great work ethic and I like his aggressiveness," said MMC head soccer coach Nathan Epp. "Jeremiah is the type of player that brings positive energy to a team. MMC is getting a quality individual."

Kiehn, an Honor Roll student, participates as a section leader in band and choir and is first chair in band at Huron High School.

Kiehn will be receiving a Benedictine Scholarship and Talent Award at MMC. He is the son of Laura McGee of Huron.

Pedrena, World, Prepare To Bid Ballesteros Goodbye

PEDRENA, Spain (AP) — Seve Ballesteros' funeral will be held in his hometown on Wednesday, bringing Nick Faldo, Colin Montgomerie and other golf luminaries to the small Spanish fishing village to honor the five-time major winner.

Top-ranked Lee Westwood, Sam Torrance and Jose Maria Olazabal also are expected to attend the service remembering Ballesteros, who died Saturday from complications of a cancerous brain tumor. He was 54.

Wednesday's funeral will be held at the 400-capacity church of San Pedro de Pedrena. Ballesteros' ashes will be placed underneath a magnolia tree in the family garden.

The golfing great first will be honored by several young boys and girls in a procession wearing a replica of the navy blue outfit that Ballesteros wore for his first British Open win in 1979. Fittingly, they will each hold a 3-iron, the first club he used as a child.

"The funeral rites will be as simple as those for any neighbor from the village," Ballesteros' brother, Baldomero, said. "He was born here and here he will remain."

Three big screens have been set up outside the ceremony, while Spanish state TV will broadcast the event live from the village of 1,500.

Ballesteros was perhaps Spain's first major sports star, helping to transform European golf by winning three British Open and two Masters titles plus a record 50 European Tour victories. He was also player-captain of the successful 1997 Ryder Cup team.

"He broke the mold," former Ryder Cup player Tommy Horton said. "We were told to hit the fairway, not to make mistakes, while Seve taught us about the genius of recovery."

"He was a genius, an artist — the first true golf artist."

Many homes in Pedrena branched Spanish flags with black ribbons attached. A small shrine could be seen outside the family home, where notes, candles, a pair of golf shoes and even a 3-iron were left as tributes.

Lockout

49ers, Panthers and Broncos, although at least Denver's new head coach, John Fox, brings plenty of experience — and victories — from Carolina.

Jim Harbaugh has been coaching, quite successfully, at Stanford and now is in San Francisco, where he's barely gotten to know some of his players. Ron Rivera, a longtime defensive coordinator elsewhere, now is in Charlotte, taking over the NFL's worst team.

Both could use lengthy, in-depth discussions with their players, and long looks on the practice field at them.

Not happening.

"This is just a critical time, and the longer this goes on, the more it benefits teams like Green Bay and New England," said Gannon, who hosts a show on Sirius NFL Radio and also is an analyst for CBS. "Those teams with of continuity
