USD Named To President's Honor Roll For The Fourth Year In A Row

VERMILLION — For the fourth straight year, The University of South Dakota was recognized nationally for outstanding community service by the Corporation for National and Community Service, which named USD to the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll.

USD is one of 641 colleges and universities recognized for instituting an exemplary service-learning program on campus. The honor is a reflection of the hard work and dedication from students, faculty and staff members who have made service a priority at USD, according to The U's Center for Academic Engagement. USD is one of five institutions from South Dakota on this year's honor roll.

The Honor Roll recognizes higher education institutions that reflect the values of exemplary community service and achieve meaningful outcomes in their communities. USD's selection to the Honor Roll is recognition from the highest levels of the federal government for the university's commitment to service and civic engagement. In the past year, close to 700 USD students contributed more than 6,500 hours of service in a variety of curricular and co-curricular activities, including service-learning through academic classes such as the Interdisciplinary Education and Action (IDEA) Program, First-Year Experience and individual courses, and through programs like Alternative Week of Off-campus Learning (AWOL) or campus organizations that include Students Enhancing Resources for Vermillion Enrichment (SERVE).

The President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, launched in 2006, annually recognizes institutions of higher education for their commitment to and achievement in community service. The President's Honor Roll increases the public's awareness of the contributions that colleges and their students make to local communities and the nation as a whole.

Honorees for the various award levels were selected based on a series of factors, including scope and innovation of service projects, percentage of student participation in service activities, incentives for service and the extent to which the school offers service-learning courses. The complete honor roll as well as special achievement award winners can be found at www.learnandserve.gov/about/programs/higher_ed_honorroll.asp.

To the Citizens of the Yankton School District:

We are the teachers of your children and grandchildren.

We teach them about Ben Franklin and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

We teach them about algebra and algae.

We teach them about F. Scott Fitzgerald and Scott Joplin.

We teach them about Egyptian pyramids and food pyramids.

We teach them how to play the saxophone and how to install drywall.

We teach them how to dissect a worm and how to sing the National Anthem.

We come in early in the morning to help them with their English essays.

We stay after school to explain the mysteries of quadratic equations.

We spend weekends correcting grammar notebooks, grading geometry quizzes and preparing biology labs.

We spend Saturday mornings teaching them how to debate - how to make costumes - how to play volleyball.

We spend Sunday evenings writing college recommendations - and scholarship recommendations - and job recommendations for them.

We are always there for your children and grandchildren.

We greet them by name in the hallway.

We pat them on the back when they fail.

We shake their hands when they succeed.
