number of local elections, she said. Activity has already surpassed the 110 early ballots cast in the 2008 presidential primary election.

“As far as early ballot-ing, we have more than I thought I would. As of right now, we are still getting some calls,” she said. “We have a number of people from the nursing homes who want to vote with early ballots.”

Tuesday’s primary election reflects redistricting of the seven-member board of county supervisors based on 2010 census figures, Fischer said. Six districts changed boundaries, but polling places didn’t change.

- In District 2, Republican incumbent Rayder Swanson faces primary challenger Orvil W. Holz. The district represents the Niobrara area in the northwest part of the county.
- In District 4, Republican incumbent Jerry Hanefeldt faces primary challenger Jim Sokol Jr. The districts represents the central part of the county, including the Center, Bazile Mills and Winnetoon areas.

Voters in the Creighton and Plainview school districts will pare down their field of school board candidates.

- Creighton school patrons will choose up to three candidates from among Daniel J. Morrill, Greg Wortman, Jody Fuchtmann, Erik Burns, Stacy L. Homan, Justin Lilly and Gene Suhr. The top six candidates advance to the general election.
- Plainview school patrons will choose up to three candidates from among Lucy Christiansen, Bob Green, Mike Sauser, John C. Anderson, Jon Haase, Vicki K. Peterson and Gale Retzlaff. The top six candidates advance to the general election.

Special elections will also be held Tuesday for Nebraska voters.

- Creighton voters will fill a vacancy on the City Council for an at-large term ended December 2014. Leonard A. Clarkson has filed as the only candidate.

The election was created because of the two other changes on the council, Fischer said.

“The former mayor resigned, and the president of the council moved to the mayor’s position,” she said. “According to the state constitution, the council had two options. It could ask for applications and appoint someone to fill the vacancy, or the council could put it on the ballot, which is what they did.”

In another special election issue, Creighton voters will decide whether to reallocate their 1 percent sales tax with 40 percent for the general fund and 20 percent each for the pool, streets and water funds.

In two other elections, voters will also decide money issues.

Bloomfield voters will decide whether to administer the city’s economic development program as currently established, appropriating a maximum of $40,000 annually for 10 years from the local option sales tax revenues.

Creighton Township voters will decide whether to approve a special property-tax levy not exceeding 20 cents per $100 of taxable valuation until fiscal year 2016-17. The money would be used for general operations, road maintenance and increasing the restricted funds base.

Two and a half million breast cancer survivors will celebrate another birthday this year, thanks in part to the progress of the American Cancer Society® and its supporters.

In honor of Mother’s Day, The Pampered Chef®, in collaboration with the American Cancer Society, is helping women everywhere by raising funds for education and early detection programs through its Help Whip Cancer campaign.

“It’s an honor to support women who have been touched by this disease,” says Marla Gottschalk, chief executive officer of the The Pampered Chef. “We’re proud to be a part of the American Cancer Society’s lifesaving work, and we are committed to helping more women celebrate another birthday with their family and friends this year.”
