pion Spearfish, and added to his awards resume. Besides ESD and all-state honors, he was named the Gatorade Player of the Year, was a national nominee for the Wendy's High School Heisman, and was a nominee for the Dial Award, which goes to one of the nation's outstanding high school student-athletes.

Nedved was not the fastest player on the field, but had a number of qualities that made him a great back, Miner said.

"Nedved was big and strong, and he had the ability to make tacklers miss," he said. "He had the knack of moving a half a step off where the tackler was coming, and not many players had strength enough to take him down with an arm tackle."

The back's work ethic also contributed to his success, Miner said.

"What a great kid to coach," he said. "When they work 100 percent in practice, give 100 percent, have talent and are smart, that makes coaching easy."

Nedved did play some line-backer for the Bucks, but the team's depth allowed him to focus mostly on offense.

"In a poorer year, he definitely would have played two ways," Miner said. "He was a nice, solid linebacker."

Nedved was also a three-year starter and letterwinner for the boys' basketball teams, helping the Bucks earn trips to state his junior and senior seasons.

Nedved took his talents to South Dakota State, where he earned second-team all-North Central Conference honors in football in 2002. The four-year letterwinner also earned academic first-team all-NCC and third-team academic all-district that season.

"One of the things that helped me the most at SDSU were understanding blocking schemes," Nedved said. "I also had the confidence that I could play at that level, and brought that winners' attitude with me. At Yankton we won a lot of games, and that stays with you."

While Nedved's plan was to be involved in agriculture, he expected to be a farmer like his parents. Instead, he went to the University of Nebraska for a master's in business administration, and now works as a business improvement project manager for DuPont Pioneer in Johnston, Iowa. He lives in Polk City, just outside of Des Moines with his wife Molly and son Niles.

"I wanted to stay involved in agriculture. One path led to another," he said. "I got a great job at Pioneer after grad school, and I've been in the Des Moines area ever since."

What helped make all of that happen was the discipline he learned while dashing up and down Crane-Youngworth Field.

"The biggest thing I took from YHS was the discipline that sports teaches you. I learned to make a commitment and stick with it," he said. "Those are things that have allowed me to succeed in college, grad school and my career. I was well prepared because of the education and the activities I was involved in at Yankton."

Gayle (Hiemstra) Vail
AS A YOUNG BASKETBALL player at Yankton High School, Gayle (Hiemstra) Vail grew up in the shadow of her older sister Diane, who holds every scoring record in Gazelle history and helped the program to several of its early state championships. By the time she graduated in 1984, Gayle had carved out her own niche in YHS lore. Vail led the Gazelles to a 61-8 record and three state championship game appearances in her final three seasons on varsity, averaging 17.2 points per game in taking Yankton to the 1983 state title.

"She had a role model to live
