SDSU Men's Asst. Hansen Resigns, Accepts Position At Northern Colorado

BROOKINGS — After five years on the bench for the Jackrabbits, South Dakota State assistant men's basketball coach Austin Hansen resigned his position at SDSU to accept an assistant coaching position the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley, Colo.

A 2003 graduate of South Dakota State, Hansen joined the Jackrabbits as an assistant coach in 2008 after five years as an assistant at Minnesota State, Mankato. In his five years at SDSU, he helped turn the program into a perennial contender in The Summit League and helped lead the Jacks to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances in 2012 and 2013.

SDSU plans to begin an immediate national search for Hansen's replacement.

UNK Athletic Director Steps Down

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — The athletic director at the University of Nebraska at Kearney is stepping down after 11 years because of concerns about his health.

UNK Chancellor Doug Kristensen praised Jon McBride's accomplishments when announcing the change on Monday.

McBride will shift into a new role to help with athletics projects, and a national search is underway for his replacement.

McBride was diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease in 2009. He says that his symptoms have been manageable with medicine, but doctors recommend reducing stress and regular exercise.

During McBride's tenure, UNK teams have won 55 regular season and tournament championships in eight sports. And the university's athletes routinely earned grade-point averages better than 3.0.

LA D-Fenders Hire Madsen As Coach

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP) — Former pro player Mark Madsen is moving into the coaching ranks with the Los Angeles D-Fenders of the NBA's D-League.

He will be the team's head coach, replacing Reggie Theus, who left to become coach at Cal State Northridge. The hiring was announced Monday.

Madsen was an assistant for Stanford's men's team last season. He helped the Cardinal to four straight NCAA appearances and the 1998 Final Four during his college career. He was an assistant for the D-League's Utah Flash in 2009-10.

Madsen played nine years in the NBA, including three with the Los Angeles Lakers, including back-to-back league titles in 2001 and 2002.

Besides earning his bachelor's degree from Stanford, Madsen earned his MBA in public management from there last June.

approval through the tricky channels of state and city politics. One of the luminaries who appeared on stage to tout the design was former Vikings head coach Bud Grant, who took the team to four Super Bowls.

"I've always been an advocate of outdoor football," Grant said. "Not anymore."

The Minnesota Sports Facilities Authority unanimously approved the design, forwarding it on to the city of Minneapolis for review.
