Dig, Dig, Dig Into Reading!

BY KATHY JACOBS
Yankton Community Library

Many of you have already registered for our summer program and are reading every day to earn book bucks for our Treasure Shoppe. If not, registration for summer reading is open through the months of June and July, and it's never too late to register! You can register both online or in the library.

"Dig Into Reading!" is the children's theme. Our kick-off is Monday, June 3, with a puppet show featuring Lisa Laird of Pockets Full of Fun, beginning at 6:30 p.m. This program is sponsored by the Friends of the Yankton Community Library.

Story times begin the first week in June and we will continue to hold them on Mondays at 6:30 a.m. and Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10:15 a.m. Each week will feature a new theme and every story time will feature new books and activities.

Other highlights for children during the month of June are a mammoth trunk from Hot Springs; USD Professor Sarah Chadima who uses food to demonstrate the geology of the earth; author Jean Patrick presenting Who Carved the Mountain?; and dinosaur demonstrations from the Washington Pavilion. The dinosaur demos are also sponsored by Friends of the Library.

Every Tuesday night will be Family Movie Night with all performances beginning at 5:30 p.m. Families are welcome to bring snacks and picnic during the movie.

The teen theme, "Beneath the Surface," features activities such as book clubs, duct tape projects, Lego contests, and an historic cemetery walk. Becky is in need of teen volunteers for the children's program, so contact her if you are interested.

Lauren Fosheim, Yankton County 4-H Youth Development Program Assistant, is back with the babysitting class for anyone ages 11 or older. The cost is $25 for a two-day workshop, June 13-14. Preregistration and payment at the library are required.

We've added new elements to the adult reading program which runs through Aug. 2. When you register, you will receive a reading list and punch card. Each time you read a book from the reading list, we will punch your card. Seven punches earn you a prize and you are entered into the grand prize drawing.

The following activities will take place in June:

- a tour of the Opsahl-Kostel Funeral Home & Crematory,
- showing of the movie "The Bucket List,"
- obituary writing with the Wintz & Ray Funeral Home
- and an historic cemetery walk.

For details on any or all of these events, call the library or inquire at the circulation desk.

On Wednesday, June 5, Bill Jamerson will appear at the Riverside Park Amphitheatre at 6:30 p.m., to present "The CCC Boys," a program of songs and stories about the Civilian Conservation Corps. Although the CCC was not active in the immediate Yankton area, it was in other parts of our state. This year is the 80th anniversary of the CCC and a great time to celebrate how that program impacted our nation.

Another exciting event that is on the horizon is an appearance by Danielle Sosin, author of this year's One Book South Dakota novel entitled "The Long-Shining Waters." Mark your calendar for Monday, June 24, 6:30 p.m., as we host Ms. Sosin during her tour of South Dakota. We are currently holding drawings and giving away two of her books every week. Register for the drawings at the circulation desk each time you check out books. This program is presented by the South Dakota Humanities Council and South Dakota Center for the Book.

Readers Anonymous book club will discuss "The Runaway Quilt" by Jennifer Chiaverini, on June 11. Joyce Brunken will present "Quilts and the Underground Railroad." This club, which is always open to new members, meets the second Tuesday of each month, at 1 p.m.

Between the Lines book club will discuss "American Wife" by Curtis Sittenfeld on Tuesday, June 18, 5:30 p.m. This book club, which meets on the third Tuesday of each month at

Civilian Conservation Corps Program June 5

Imagine growing up on a South Dakota farm during The Great Depression. If you didn't make it or grow it, you didn't have it. One day, your big brother boards a train for a Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) work camp. Soon, a $25 check is arriving each month in the mail. Your parents are able to buy food and necessities. Once, there was enough money left over to buy your sister a new Easter dress and bonnet.

The CCC was a 1930's federal jobs program that gave work to more than 26,000 young men in South Dakota. They planted trees in forests, built state parks, constructed roads, improved farmland and did hundreds of projects across the state, including work in the Black Hills National Forest.

Join Bill Jamerson as he presents a musical tribute to the CCC Boys on Wednesday, June 5, at the Riverside Park Amphitheatre, at 6:30 p.m. Jamerson will tell the history in story and song as this nation celebrates the 80th anniversary of the CCC.

This program is free of charge and sponsored by the Yankton Community Library. For more information, call 668-5276.

Danny Santos At Hay Country Jamboree June 8

GAYVILLE — Texas singer-songwriter Danny Santos visits Gayville Hall's monthly musical variety show, "The Hay Country Jamboree," at 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 8, in Gayville.

Show regulars, including banjo virtuoso and funnyman Dan Kilbride and the trio Good People, will trade tunes with Santos and his fellow Texan Wes Green on fiddle and mandolin.

A native Texan of Chicano heritage, Santos accompanies himself on guitar while performing "a unique mix of country/folk tinged with bluegrass and blues." He has performed extensively throughout the United States and Europe and first appeared at Gayville Hall a decade ago. He records on the Chicago-based Wind River label and on the Brambus label out of Switzerland. With Green at his side, the singer-songwriter will gravitate toward bluegrass.

Homeboy Kilbride, of Sioux Falls, is no slouch in that genre either, but also delights Gayville audiences with his downhome humor.

Good People, featuring Bruce Gray and mother-and-daughter Cindy and Rebecca Gehm, performs old-time American popular songs, folk, gospel, and mountain-type music. The trio debuted three years ago on the Gayville Hall stage and, with three-part vocal harmonies, remains a popular and frequent guest.

Jamborees are two-hours long, including a short intermission midway, and are presented in an alcohol-free, family-friendly setting.

Gayville Hall is at 502 Washington Street in Gayville. Call 605-267-2859 for ticket information.

Book For 'Summer' Delivers A Strong Tale

"Second Chance Summer," by Morgan Matson, Simon & Schuster Children's Publishing Division, 2012. 480 pages.

BY PAT HANSEN

"It was the best of times; it was the worst of times." Have you heard those words in a book? Taylor has too and has no idea how it can be both in Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" that she had to read for school. Because right now her life is nothing but worst.

On her 17th birthday, her parents came home from several days of medical tests and gave her and her brother and sister the bad news: Their father has Stage 4 pancreatic cancer and has about four months left to live. His special request — that they spend the summer, his last, at their lake cabin.

Taylor is not thrilled about that prospect. She decides to take off the morning that they are supposed to drive to the cabin. Anywhere would be better than facing her father's cancer, her family who doesn't talk about anything personal or emotional, and the awkward mess she left the last time they were at the cabin five years ago.

Her dad knows her ways, though, and drives to where he knows she'll be. After all, it's been her lifelong pattern — to run away whenever things get difficult.

With no way out of it she finds herself at the cabin. What are you supposed to do when you're spending the last time of someone's life with them? She and her brother hover over their dad until he forces her to get a summer job.

And it was going to happen sooner or later — running into
