A Flip On Fourth Street

Four vehicles were involved in a collision at Fourth St. and Douglas Avenue at around 10:45 Sunday morning. An eastbound Dodge pickup collided with a northbound SUV, causing the pickup to flip on its side and rotate 180 degrees. The pickup then slid into oncoming traffic, colliding with a westbound pickup and narrowly missing a passenger car. A total of eight persons were involved in the mishap, with three of them transported by ambulance to Avera Sacred Heart Hospital.

Crohn's, Colitis Meeting Tuesday

Library To Explore 'Literary Elements'

"Literary Elements" is the theme of the Yankton Community Library's 2014 Adult Summer Reading Program. There are new programs on the schedule as well as another cemetery walk in partnership with the Dakota Territorial Museum set for June 19.

The summer kicks off with a Big Bang Theory Trivia Night at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 3. Register as a team of two or as an individual and we will pair you with another person that evening. Come in a Big Bang Theory related costume and earn bonus points for your team. Prizes will be awarded throughout the game.

At 6:30 p.m. June 10, there will be an evening of "Edible Plants" with Master Gardener Betts Pulkabek guiding attendees through the science of food and edible plants. The registration cost will cover samples and copies of all recipes.

The 2014 Summer Reading Program is open to all adults with programs, prizes and special events. The adult program will begin on May 19 and run through Aug. 1.

A special feature of the program is a reading punch card. Each time you read a book from specially chosen categories, librarians will punch your card. When your card has eight punches, you will receive a prize and be entered into a grand prize giveaway.

Registration and reading begin on May 19. For more information, call the library at 668-5276 or check out <http://ycclib.sdn.net>.

Sioux Falls VA Walk And Roll May 21

SIOUX FALLS — The Sioux Falls VA (Dept. of Veterans Affairs) Health Care System will host a VA2K Walk and Roll on May 21 from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. to encourage healthy activity while supporting homeless veterans with donated items.

The VA2K Walk and Roll is free and open to employees, veterans, and the general public. Registration will take place in the main lobby of the medical center, and walkers may walk a route around the VA neighborhood. In the event of inclement weather, there will be a designated route inside the medical center. Pre-registration is not required, and those interested in participating should plan to arrive at the main lobby no later than 12:30 p.m. to participate in the walk.

The Sioux Falls VA2K is just one of many taking place May 21 at other VAs across the country. In conjunction with the event, VA is authorized to accept items for homeless veterans. Suggested donations include all-purpose cleaners, mops, brooms, laundry supplies, Tracphone cards and monthly bus passes. Individuals are not required to donate to participate.

The event is open to individuals of all fitness levels and can be done over a lunch break. Whether you team up with a coworker, a friend or participate on your own, there's no better time to step up your activity level and help improve the lives of homeless veterans.

For additional information, contact Denise Schwardt, local VA2K coordinator, at 605-336-3230, Ext. 7946 or denise.schwardt@va.gov.

place those flags can be dropped off before something like that," he said.

The box, which features an American flag wrapped around the sides, a bald eagle in front, and names of all five branches of the military, was designed by renowned airbrush artist Mickey Harris.

Harris, who said he has a special connection to the military after being born on an Air Force base in Oklahoma, has airbrushed many signs and artifacts in the region. He also estimates that he has painted 10,000 flags in his career.

His goal for the Opsahl-Kostel box was simple, Harris said.

"I wanted to wrap the box in the flag, just envelope it in the whole American spirit," he said.

Doing so, however, proved to be a challenge. Harris said he had to research how a flag would fold around a solid structure like the box. He borrowed his father's American flag to photograph how it would look on the box.

"I had to ad-lib a lot," Harris said. "The flag he gave me didn't have the 50 stars, it was an older one and had 48. It didn't line up right, so I had to tweak that."

The drop box wasn't the only project Harris had been working on recently that dealt with military service, he said. He is in the process of airbrushing a Dodge Viper at a body shop in Menno, where he lives. The car is for the Lone Survivor Foundation, which was established in 2010 by Marcus Luttrell who wrote a best-selling book in 2007 about Operation Redwing.

"One-hundred percent of the money goes to foundations like that," Harris said.

Shortly after the Saturday afternoon ceremony, Wilton Johnson and his wife, Georgia, who rode their motorcycle from their home in Niobrara, Nebraska, deposited seven weathered flags into the box.

Wilton said he used to sell flags and flag poles during his time as a driver for Sapa in Yankton.

"Some of the people ended up bringing the flags back, so I just kept them," Wilton said. "We've hung on to them all these years."

The Johnsons have also discarded flags during burning ceremonies held every five years in Niobrara, Georgia said.

"But this one (ceremony) was absolutely beautiful, with all the flags and riders," she said.

Opsahl-Kostel plans to potentially hold a more public flag retirement ceremony in the future, Opsahl said.

"We're all really proud of the Yankton community, and our service in Charlie Battery, and those who continue to serve," he said. "We just can't forget the sacrifice they make."
