The Mount Marty College Athletic Hall of Fame opens its doors to three individuals and one team on Sunday. While their careers combined to span a decade, they all have one thing in common.

lesse Kurtenbach and Nancy (Ommen) Heldberg were quiet grinders, neither overly interested in tooting their own horn, but both willing to do the work to make their teams better Kurtenbach played every game of his career behind the plate for the Lancers, a four-year career that included a Great Plains Athletic Conference Player of the Year award. While undersized, he built himself up physically into someone who could not only handle the grind of catching each game, but have enough left to explode offensively as well. He holds the MMC career marks for triples (10) and hit-by-pitches (55, including a whopping 36 his junior year), and ranks second on the Lancer career

Ommen was the power in the post for the Lancer women, one of four players to rank top-10 all-time in both points and rebounds for the Lancers. She also ranks second all-time in free throws made, a testament to the pounding she took inside

Toughness Carried 2015 Class Into MMC Hall Of Fame

Bonnichsen showed both mental and physical toughness during his time at MMC. He delayed his enrollment in college to spend a year at home while his mother fought a losing battle with cancer. At MMC, he overcame four surgeries and defenses spetiol a year at monter while his institute hought a losing battle will called. A minior, he overcame out surjectes and deterlises geared specifically to stop him to become the Lancers' all-lime leading scorer.

The '99 Lancer baseball team was the spitting image of its head coach, Hall of Famer Bob Tereshinski: tough, confident and with enough swagger to fill the ballipark. The team had plenty of star power – seven first-team all-South Dakotal-loward Conference selections – and did plenty with that talent, completing a perfect run through the SDIC regular season and winning a GPAC Tourney title. Current MMC head coach Andy Bernatow and assistant coach Jason Nelson were both a part of that squad, and you can see a little bit of that team's veteran determination in this year's Lancers.

While those Lancers did have plenty of stars they also did the little things. Ighn Sandarson, a first-team selection, ranks.

While those Lancers did have plenty of stars, they also did the little things. John Sanderson, a first-team selection, ranks among the Lancers' all-lime leders in sacrifice bunts. Jimmy Bauer, a second-team pick, ranks among the lancers' all-lime leders in sacrifice bunts. Jimmy Bauer, a second-team pick, ranks among the all-lime leaders in stolen bases. Gene Elder, a first-team pitcher, ranks second all-time in complete games, third in victories and fourth in innings pitched in Lancer history.

Each of this year's honorees earned their rightful place among the Lancer elite with grit and determination. It will be good to see all of them on Sunday, when they come home to MMC to be honored once again.

AGRICULTURE ISN'T JUST ABOUT WHAT YOU BUILD, BUT WHAT YOU LEAVE BEHIND.

In the life of every farm and ranch, there's a time when a plan changes from building a future to leaving a legacy. We understand that plan - we know what you're working for today and we'll be there for the generations to come. When you're in agriculture for keeps, your lender should be, too.
