Highway Patrol Remembers Fallen

PIERRE — South Dakota's Highway Patrol is spending this Law Enforcement Memorial Week remembering the five Highway Patrol troopers who have died in the line of duty. "We can never forget the service of these troopers and all of the other law enforcement officers who have died in the line of duty," said Colonel Craig Price, the Highway Patrol's superintendent. "They showed heroism and courage. They paid the ultimate sacrifice while protecting others." The five are:
 • Patrolman Bernard Benson, died in the line of duty, Sept. 17, 1941;
 • Patrolman H.N. "Brownie" Russell, died in the line of duty, Nov. 19, 1958;
 • Trooper Verlyn Mettler, died in the line of duty, March 9, 1976;
 • Trooper Steven Hoffman, died in the line of duty, March 12, 1980; and,
 • Trooper Oren Hindman, died in the line of duty, May 2, 1985.

The names of the five are listed on the Law Enforcement Memorial at Capitol Lake in Pierre as well as on a memorial in front of the state Department of Public Safety building in Pierre, which houses the Highway Patrol.

Law enforcement officers from across South Dakota will attend the annual Law Enforcement Memorial ceremony Wednesday in Pierre.

Post

"One of the things we had to redo was, we thought we could narrow the hallway up on the second floor," he said. "The National Park Service was not OK with that, so we redesigned the apartment units' layout — leaving the hallway the same as it is today."

He added that the layout change actually led to additional apartment units over the original plan.

"Now we have 21 residential units," he said. "We had 17 in our original plans, so we're just going with some smaller sizes."

Another element of the building is 3,000 square feet of commercial space.

Froehlich said while, there's nothing set for that space at the moment, this was anticipated.

"We've got no one that's planning on moving into that," he said. "We thought that might be the case. A lot of commercial people want to know that the project is real before they move in. A lot of them want to see the space before they decide whether it will work for them. We had the assumption going into (the project) that we needed to lead with residential. ... We think we'll attract a commercial tenant after we get the residential done."

He added there have been discussions with possible commercial clients.

"We've had a few conversations — just no one serious enough to spend a lot of time on it," he said.

Last November, Froehlich presented the plans for the post office during a meeting of One Million Cups, after which he told the Press & Dakotan that while his group has held discussions with some businesses, the location may have some issues attracting certain businesses.

"We've talked to Jimmy John's, Scooters, Red (Steakhouse) in Vermillion and Dunkin Donuts as well," he said. "(Reception is) anywhere from interested to not a high enough traffic count at that location. The nationals typically go by very strict parameters, and usually traffic count is the part we're just not going to hit."

Froehlich said Tuesday that his group is in a position to begin pre-leasing apartments.

"We're actually ready to start pre-leasing the residential units," he said. "If somebody is interested in renting an apartment, they can actually go to our website and just click on the 'contact us' tab. We will pre-lease these, subject to tenant's approval, after we're completed. They just need to put down a reservation fee and that will hold their unit for them. Then, when we finish it, they'll have a few days to walk through the unit. If they're not impressed or pleased with their unit, they can terminate it."

Froehlich said there isn't a definite set timeframe for completion.

"We're keyed up and ready to go once we get final approval," he said.

He estimated it would take around eight months for completion of the project.

• For volunteers traveling to Delmont from either north or south on Highway 281, turn east on Highway 18 and then north on 401st Street.

For more information, call Lisa Adler at 605-212-9605.

Delmont was hit with a EF-2 tornado shortly before 11 a.m. on Mother's Day, with peak winds of 130 miles per hour. The twister carved a path 17.3 miles long with an estimated path 400 yards wide.

Nine persons were injured and received hospitalization, but the tornado didn't claim any fatalities. Water was restored to the town, and the boil water order was lifted Thursday.

Electricity has been restored to about 75 percent of the Delmont. The west end of the town was hit particularly hard, including the destruction of the century-old Zion Lutheran Church and the new fire hall which had not yet been dedicated. The eastern part of the community remains intact.

In other developments, state officials say the lifting of the boil water order means the community's water is safe for residents to use. Residents are now able to use the water for drinking, bathing and cooking.

A Boil Water Order was issued by the South Dakota Department of Environment and Natural Resources after Sunday's tornado disrupted the city's water supply.

Water samples were tested and deemed safe, according to state officials. The safe samples demonstrate that response efforts to bring the water distribution system back on line after loss of pressure related to tornado damage were effective.

Delmont officials have established a relief fund as the community works to recover from Sunday's tornado.

Cash donations designated to the Delmont Disaster Relief Fund can be dropped off at First State Bank locations in Delmont, Tripp, Armour and Geddes. Donations can also be mailed to First State Bank, P.O. Box 68, Delmont, SD 57330.
