VERMILLION — The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity, Kappa Pi Chapter at the University of South Dakota, is hosting its annual sketch comedy philanthropy event, "Thursday Night Live," at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 17 at Aalfs Auditorium in Slegle Hall.

Proceeds from "Thursday Night Live" will benefit Cure Kids Cancer, an organization dedicated to finding life-saving treatments for children's cancer. Cure Kids Cancer locally supports the Sanford Children's Hospital and works with television and radio stations, and corporate partners to raise funds and public awareness to help keep kids with cancer as close to home as possible.

Last year, Pi Kappa Alpha raised more than $2,000 thanks to generous donations from local businesses and community support. The organization's goal this year is to double that amount.

"This is a cause very important to our brothers," stated Brenan Tjelmeland, philanthropy chair, "and we could not be more excited to benefit Cure Kids Cancer."

In addition to raising funds through ticket sales for "Thursday Night Live" (tickets are $5) and a T-shirt sale, Pi Kappa Alpha is hosting a toy drive to benefit the children of Sanford Health. Persons donating a new toy will be entered in a chance to win a prize at "Thursday Night Live."

Mountain Lion Killed Near Creighton

Deer Hunter Shot Cat Saturday, Officials Report

LINCOLN, Neb. — A 15-year-old deer hunter from Wayne killed a mountain lion near Creighton in northeast Nebraska on Nov. 12, according to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The boy, hunting a shelterbelt in Knox County, spotted the mountain lion 10 feet away before shooting and killing it. The mountain lion was a young male, which has been typical of mountain lions found in Nebraska outside of the Panhandle, according to Sam Wilson, furbearer and carnivore program manager with Game and Parks. The carcass was turned over to Game and Parks, as required by law.

It was the 52nd confirmed mountain lion sighting in Nebraska outside the Pine Ridge population since 1991.

Mountain lions are protected year-round in Nebraska but may be killed if threatening people or attacking livestock. No charges will be filed, as evidence indicated self-defense.

"Game and Parks is interested in documenting observations or game camera photographs of mountain lions," Wilson said. "Please report any observations to your nearest Game and Parks office or call 402-471-0641."
