BBB Offers Tips On Hurricane Relief Donations

OMAHA, Neb. — In the wake of Hurricane Sandy's devastation in the northeastern regions of the U.S., BBB Wise Giving Alliance offers the following tips to help donors decide where to direct donations to assist hurricane victims:

- Be cautious when giving online.
- Be cautious about online giving, especially in response to unsolicited spam messages, and emails and social media posts that claim to link to a relief organization. If you want to give to a charity involved in relief efforts, go directly to the charity's website. In response to hurricanes Katrina and Rita, and the Asian tsunamis, the FBI and others raised concerns about websites and new organizations that were created overnight, allegedly to help victims.

sisting hurricane victims, the truth is that the organization is still probably incurring fund raising and administrative expenses. It may use some of its other funds to pay these costs, but the expenses will still be incurred.

- Find out if the charity has an on-the-ground presence in the impacted areas.
- Unless the charity already has staff in the affected areas, it may be difficult to bring in new aid workers to provide assistance quickly. See if the charity's website clearly describes what the charity can do to address immediate needs.
- Find out if the charity is providing direct aid or raising money for other groups.

Some charities may be raising money to pass along to relief organizations. If so, you may want to consider "avoiding the middleman" and giving directly to those that have a presence in the region. At a minimum, you should check out the ultimate recipients of these donations to see whether they are equipped to provide aid effectively.

- Gifts of clothing, food or other in-kind donations.
- In-kind drives for food and clothing, while well intentioned, may not necessarily be the quickest way to help those in need — unless the organization has the staff and infrastructure to distribute such aid properly. Ask the charity about its transportation and distribution plans. Be wary of those who are not experienced in disaster relief assistance.

Vermillion Rotary Offers Important Programs

Tuesday at noon at the Al Neuharth Media Center on the University of South Dakota campus. Visitors are always welcome, Peterson said.

Last year the club provided $17,600 in direct contributions to the Vermillion community that included everything from bike helmets for second graders to scholarships, backpack program, food donations, and library support.

Peterson's goal for the coming year is to develop a website for the Vermillion club and sign up at least 10 new members. He also wants to include college-age volunteers in club projects and be more visible in the community.

The Vermillion Rotary board includes David Herbst, past president; Debbie Reaves, vice president; Kathy Chandler, secretary; Doug Tuve, treasurer; and board members Art Mabry, Craig Thompson, Lora Lee Hensel and Kevin Haselhorst.

Dear Editor,

I am an 83 year old woman who is very worried about our country. I sincerely believe this is the most important presidential election in my lifetime. I am a child of the depression, having grown up in Oklahoma, and still enjoy a meal of cornbread and pinto beans. I was a secretary all my working life.

I have already cast my vote for Mitt Romney because I know he has the leadership ability to get us on the road to recovery. Governor Romney is a problem solver. As the governor of Massachusetts he worked with the state legislature comprised of 87% Democrats and included many fine women in his administration. When the winter Olympics in Salt Lake City was floundering he stepped in, without compensation, to make this event a huge success. He has spent most of his life as a successful businessman and knows what is needed to get people back to work. His goal is to make life better and more prosperous for every citizen.

Folks, this isn't a popularity contest. No doubt, our president is good at small talk and is very comfortable with show biz types, enjoys shooting the breeze with Letterman, Leno, The View ladies, John Stewart. In the recent debate we saw his real personality with its arrogance, sarcasm, and disrespect he showed his dignified opponent. When Gov. Romney reminded him of his apology tour around the world after his election, he responded that was a "big whopper." Just look at the record, he is the one telling a big whopper. As to his decision making, remember he flew to Las Vegas for a fund raiser even with the terrible crisis in Libya.

Our country needs a leader. We have an opportunity to elect a true statesman and true leader in Mitt Romney. Don't be gullible to the falsehoods his opponent tells in his attempt to destroy the character of this fine man. Please do what is best for our nation and vote for Gov. Romney to ensure a better future for our children and grandchildren.

Sincerely,

Dixie Griffith
