better for the Bears when SDSU's offense was on the field.
Je Ryan Butler returned the opening kickoff 45 yards to set up a seven-play, 52-yard scoring march for the Jackrabbits. After an errant snap moved the line of scrimmage back eight yards on the opening play, running back Brady Mengarelli ripped off a 17-yard run and junior quarterback Zach Lujan completed back-to-back passes to sophomore receiver Jake Wieneke and senior tight end Cam Jones to set up Mengarelli for a 13-yard scoring run.
In all, the Jacks racked up 439 yards of total offense in a game where Lujan and freshman Taryn Christian shared duties at quarterback. They teamed to complete 24 or 30 passes for 305 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions.
Mengarelli rushed 15 times for a game-high 142 yards, and Wieneke returned to form, catching seven passes for 161 yards.
"I feel like a little kid again, all giddy and excited," Lujan said in the postgame radio interview after seeing his first extended playing time in the last four games. "Both of us have to be ready when our number is called, and we have to go out and execute."

Lujan suffered an ankle sprain during the North Dakota State game and had seen limited duty until Saturday.
Even kicker Jay Carlson stepped up. When the Jacks offense couldn't punch it in, the senior made sure SDSU didn't go away empty-handed. He kicked four field goals, including a career-high 47 yards.
"He played far beyond what he's ever played. So proud of him," Stiegelmeier said during the postgame radio interview.
Running back Ryan Heaston led Missouri State with 73 yards rushing on 14 carries. He also had a season-high three receptions.
Bears linebacker Dylan Cole tallied 18 total tackles, including 2.5 for loss. Defensive back Tre Betts added 10 tackles.
The No. 13-ranked Jacks face No. 3 Illinois State in a key game next week in Brookings. The 2 p.m. start will be the final game at Coughlin-Alumni Stadium.

SEWARD, Neb. — Concordia scored four second-half goals to pull away to a 5-0 victory over Mount Marty in Great Plains Athletic Conference women's soccer action on Saturday in Seward, Neb.
Jessica Skerston scored two goals, and three other players scored for Concordia.
MMC had two shots, one on goal, both by Carly Manahan. Courtney True stopped 12 shots in goal in her final start for the Lancers.
MMC finished 1-16 overall, 0-11 in GPAC play.

"You try to get better at what you do," Glenn said. "I don't think you go wholesale out and start chucking.
In the fourth quarter, we would have gone to more throwing, but look where we were at. We just didn't get a break in the fourth quarter. Their punter just killed us."
After rolling up 106 yards in the first quarter, when it scored its only touchdown, USD struggled to move the ball. And outside of that 81-yard scoring drive, the next longest drive for the Coyotes was 20 yards.
Northern Iowa coach Mark Farley said his defense settled into the tempo of the game after trying to establish what USD's plan of attack would be.
"I think we figured it out pretty quickly but their thought was moving the football," Farley said.
The best way for the Coyotes to be able to pinpoint what exactly wasn't working will be to examine film, according to quarterback Ryan Saeger.
"The first three drives, it looked like we were able to establish something, but then we just disappeared," Saeger said.

to 44 yards rushing on 23 carries, but he made up for it by passing for 231 yards. The Panthers, though, were limited to two field goals after halftime.
That USD defense will be challenged next Saturday by a Southern Illinois outfit that ranks fourth nationally in total offense (514.9).
The Sulukis, which are like USD 2-3 in the Valley, rolled up 398 yards in a loss to North Dakota State on Saturday. SIU, however, surrendered 397 yards on the ground to the Bison, a stat that could bode well for the Coyotes.

down or remain steady and cruise in for second.
"I could hear how far back the third place pack was," Eichkorn said. "I just had to stay here and that would help my team the most.
It would have been nice to win an individual title, but winning a team title means so much more."
NDSU's Brittany Brownnoter (21:44.75) finished third, edging out USD's Kelsey Barrett (21:46.19). For Barrett, the race was about staying focused on the team goal.
We sat around and talked about our goals, and I said, "The whole race, every single second of the race, I'm going to be thinking, 'Is what I'm doing right now going to help my team win the race.'" That was just my approach," she said. "You have to know where everyone is ahead. You have to know what place you're in, and you have to know what you need to do to help your team.
That's how we all went into it."
SDSU's first two runners, Samantha Anderson (21:56.19) and Rachel King (21:56.24), finished right behind Barrett. That they would play out for the rest of the scoring runners, as USD's Katie Wetzstein (8th, 21:59.60), Nicole Schmidt (11th, 22:38.19) and Megan Billington (13th, 22:47.14) each had a Jackrabbit finish directly behind her.
If those places switch, that's a six-point swing," Fitzsimmons said.
Also for USD, Lindsay Joyce (23:11.420), Jessica Feldman (23:17.55) and Erin Wetzstein (23:23.73) finished 24th, 25th and 26th. Bailey Oettel (23:57.03) finished in 35th.
After wondering how his battered team would perform in the conference meet, the forward-thinking Fitzsimmons was happy to leave talk about the NCAA regional in two weeks for another day.
As banged up as we have been, I just wanted to get through today. We have to weeks to rest and recover before regions," he said. "Like Kelsey said before the meet, 'Let's just get through the weekend. We'll cross that bridge in two weeks.'" ished fourth with 87 points. IUPUI edged SDSU 35-39 for a second straight team title, with the Bison placing third.

Our men's team, we knew they were young coming into the meet. We were hoping they'd battle for third, and they did just that," Fitzsimmons said.
SDSU's Trent Lusignana won medalist honors for the second time in three years, finishing the 8,000-meter course in 24:29.70. Teammates Joel Reichow (24:34.40) and Trevor Capra (24:49.57) finished right behind him, giving the Jackrabbits a good start on scoring.
But after USD's Mubarik Musa (24:49.66) came six straight Jaguars. Eight IUPUI runners came in between SDSU's third and fourth runners, clinching the title.
