a good show that times well with the season, and I know 'Wait Until Dark' is the perfect show to do that. The cast has been working very hard, the set is almost 100 percent ready to go and now it is just putting the final touches together."

Sue said that because the show is so reliant on lighting and sound cues, the cast has begun working with the technical aspects of the show more than a week ahead of schedule.

"We have so much going on, on stage — people throwing liquids, fighting, falling — that we wanted the actors to be very comfortable with the equipment," she said. "We didn't want the audience to miss a single line because there happened to be feedback from a microphone or someone missed a lighting cue. So we are working with the technical aspects already, perfecting them."

Randy said that it helps that the show does have such a small cast. "We do only have eight in the cast," he said. "They have come together, both veterans of the stage and first-time actors. It has been great to see what they have done with the show from the first reading to today, and they are only getting better with each rehearsal."

The cast for "Wait Until Dark" includes Larry Holland as Mike Talman; Peter Rossiter as Sergeant Carlingo; Ben Gother as Harry Roat; Anderson as Suzy Hendrix; Currin Frost as Sam Hendrix; Gabby Slowey as Gloria; and Mike Tolliver and Gene Johnson as patrolmen.

"I think it helps that this cast truly is enjoying working together," Randy said. "I think the audiences are going to really enjoy the chemistry on stage."

The Fields said that they are dedicating the production of "Wait Until Dark" to Michael Kohn, who passed away this week. He was a veteran of the LCTC stage and will be missed by everyone at the theatre, the Fields said.

Opening on Thursday, Oct. 20, "Wait Until Dark" will have a two-week run, with Thursday, Friday and Saturday performances starting at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

"Doors open at 6:45 p.m. for our preview night Thursday, Oct. 20," Lambertz said. "Then, doors open at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 1:30 p.m. on Sundays."

Also, Lambertz said that in early November, LCTC will be hosting three acting workshops, one for elementary-age students, one for high school students and one for adults, all directed by special guest director Eric Johnson.

"Eric is joining us from New York," Lambertz said. "He will be directing our 'Yankton Christmas Spectacular.' While he is here, he agreed to teach the special classes, so if people are interested they should come in and get signed up. All the music teachers in the schools have sign up sheets, as well."

In addition, Lambertz said the comedy team of Williams and Ree will be performing at the Dakota Theatre on Nov. 5.

"We just really encourage everyone to call and get their tickets reserved for all of our upcoming productions," Lambertz said. "It is going to be an exciting month at Lewis and Clark."

just down the road from the quarry featured in the first season.

"This is my old stomping ground," said Singleton, who played a menacing thug in last year's award-winning movie "The Blind Side," also filmed in Atlanta. "It was an emotional moment for me. I remember when I was around guys like the guy from 'The Blind Side.' Here I am making movies right in my backyard. It's just surreal."

Thanks to Nicotero and his team, "Dead" has made a name for itself in special effects makeup, winning an Emmy this year for outstanding prosthetic makeup for a series, miniseries, movie or a special.

AMC couldn't have chosen a better special effects makeup wizard than Nicotero, who began his career under horror flick director and writer George A. Romero with 1985's zombie classic "Day of the Dead." Nicotero went on to do special effects makeup for everything from "Dances With Wolves" to a spate of Quentin Tarantino films, including "Pulp Fiction" and "Inglourious Basterds," but his career in zombie films has made him something of an expert in the undead.

Nicotero's craft of special effects makeup — rather than using computer-generated effects or characters — gives the show an even eerier feeling as the human aspects of each zombie shine through, reminding viewers that the creepy monsters were once people. Some zombies may be in a scene for just a few seconds but can take up to three hours of makeup to be transformed into the undead.

"I always tell my crew, 'Make them dirty so I can smell it,'" said Eulyn Womble, the costume designer who takes lighters and scissors to clothing to create the tattered zombie look. "I want to look at them and smell how gross and old and dirty they are, and how rotten their flesh is."
