

Stand Up For Religious Freedom Rally

On Saturday, Oct. 20, concerned citizens of Yankton and the surrounding area will take to the streets to voice public opposition to the Obama administration's Health and Human Services Mandate. The HHS Mandate forces all employers — including religious schools and hospitals — to provide free contraceptives, surgical sterilizations and abortion-inducing drugs through their health plans, regardless of religious or moral convictions.

The Yankton Stand Up for Religious Freedom Rally will begin at noon-1 p.m. at the corner of Fourth Street and Broadway Avenue, Yankton, joining more than a hundred other cities and towns from Maine to Hawaii that are participating in this national event. A complete list of rally sites and other details are available at StandUPRally.com.

The Oct. 20 Stand Up Rally builds on the tremendous momentum created by the first two rallies held earlier this year in March and June, with more than 125,000 citizens of all faiths attending local rallies at 300 sites coast to coast. With the Supreme Court's Obamacare ruling leaving this issue in voters' hands and Election Day only weeks away, the nationwide Oct. 20 Stand Up Rally is expected to draw larger crowds.

The Yankton Stand Up for Religious Freedom Rally has been organized by Jan Everson and Jean Weller.

The date for the Stand Up Rally was chosen to keep this crucial issue in the public eye as voters decide which candidates best represent their values.

"Jobs, the economy and foreign policy are all important issues, but something far more important is at stake in this election," explained Darold Adamson. "If the federal government can force employers to choose between violating their deeply held religious and moral convictions or going out of business, then the founding American principle of religious freedom has been forfeited."

"We've been appealing to President Obama all year to rescind the HHS Mandate," said Adamson, "but our words have fallen on deaf ears. Now we're calling on the voters of Yankton and the surrounding area to defend their religious freedom in the voting booth on Election Day."

How To Inherit Eternal Life

BY BOB CAPPEL
Associate Pastor, First United Methodist Church

REFLECTIONS

It always seems that throughout a year, the sermon or message theme that comes up on Sunday worship services or in a Bible study is about eternal life. It always starts with a specific scripture like the one in the lectionary schedule last Sunday; Mark 10:17-31. In the scripture a rich man runs up to Jesus and says, "Good teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" You'll notice the significant word in the question is "inherit." Apparently the rich man understood inheritance since during that period in history, he may have been a first-born son and inherited his riches.

So, Jesus assures him that eternal life cannot be won by "doing." It isn't really about keeping score or record of all that we do, but rather doing the right things for the right reasons. Unfortunately, we sometimes tend to look at how God is to serve us, rather than us recognizing ways when and how we can serve him. Could this rich man be doing that; seeking affirmation from Jesus on that he was doing good which has allowed him to be rich in life and wants to extend prosperity into eternity. He might even have been seeking assurance from God and maybe a pat on the back "keep up the good work." Either way, this rich man apparently wasn't prepared for what Jesus was about to tell him in v.21: "You lack one thing; go sell what you own, and give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; then come follow me." We know that in the following verse the rich man was shocked and sad when he walked away from Jesus after hearing the instructions.

Let's just say for the sake of clarity of this man's prosperity by replacing the interpretation in the Bible of the rich man's prosperity of riches to "stuff" we surround ourselves with today. "Stuff" that we think we can't do without that draws us to lose sight of the cross and a personal relationship with Jesus. In our society, unfortunately, we have become focused too much with what we possess or devote our time to that takes us away or keeps us from having a relationship with Jesus.

In verse 19, Jesus used some of the Ten Commandments in getting his point across to the man about eternal life. Jesus then quotes the commandments of "You shall not murder (6th), commit adultery (7th), steal (8th), bear false witness (9th), defraud (not one of the Ten Commandments) and honor your father and mother (5th). The rich man's response to Jesus, "Teacher, I have kept all these since my youth." But, you'll recognize in reading the scripture that Jesus doesn't mention the first through the fourth, so the man didn't claim to obey them. But you have to wonder; if Jesus would have quoted them to the man, would he be able to proclaim the same of "keeping them since his youth." The commandments are "You shall have no other gods before me (1st), not make for yourself an idol (2nd), not make wrongful use of the name of the Lord your God (3rd) and remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy (4th).

You see today our society has replaced God with other gods in the form "stuff." That "stuff" may be that it is all about spending all our effort to make money, surrounding ourselves with the newest of the new-maybe electronics or electronics. We have seen the too many things pulling the population away from church on Sundays. These things include sporting events when games are scheduled on Sunday mornings, jobs that cause people to make a decision: is it church or is it a check on payday. These are only a sample of the items I refer to as "stuff," but the list could easily be as long as my arm.

So, the question I raise to the readers of this week's article; are you letting "stuff" affect your ability to have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ? If so, now the time to conduct an evaluation of your life. What would Jesus' answer be if you approached him? Would he tell you that you must sell-get rid of the "stuff" that is diverting your focus away from the cross. We need to listen to his call and follow him!

We now know the rich man went away from Jesus very disappointed after Jesus told him what was necessary to "inherit" eternal life. It could have been he was so wrapped up in his "stuff" that he wasn't willing to make a change in his spiritual life. So, if you don't have that personal life with Jesus, now is the time to make a change so you have the opportunity to inherit eternal life!
