Little Boy Blue's nursery rhyme comes true this time of year, as many farmers put their "cows in the corn" to clean up what the combine left behind after harvest. But it's not enough for farmers to close the gate and let the bovines fend for themselves. "Depending on the amount of corn that is left in the field, the cows could run low on protein and energy because cornstalks alone don't provide enough," said Darwin McGhee, Yankton Co. extension agent.

How can families have a safe and happy Halloween? A checklist helps. The check list is divided into four categories: Costumes, Walkers, Trick or Treat Do's and Don'ts, and Drivers/Home Owners and contains precautions which many people might not think about.

Winter made an early appearance in the Yankton area today, with the first snow of the season falling briskly starting around 8 o'clock this morning. Motor vehicle owners began thinking seriously of anti-freeze and snow tires as the snowfall piled up on cars.

The Scotland "B" team posted their second win of the season here Monday afternoon by downing Parkston, 20 to 6. The Scotland team is now 2-2 for the year with both wins over Parkston. Terry Settle scored twice for Scotland while Ronnie Retzer added the other touchdown.

No specific projects were discussed Tuesday.

On Monday, the City Commission voted to redefine the boundaries of the proposed BID. Instead of including all hotels and lodging establishments in Yankton, it will only affect those with 25 or more rooms. Smaller facilities can volunteer to be included.

Mayor Nancy Wenande has said that definition of the boundaries is used in other South Dakota cities.

Hotels with 25 or more rooms are the Best Western Kelly Inn, the
