several hundred fans. Miles Fan Crissy Lancaster Scott and a group of friends — both male and female — cheered the women as they jogged off the field at halftime.

“Girl power. It's all about girl power,” Scott said. “I just love to see women step out and do things that men probably don't think they should do.”

Lewis, like Brunson an experienced official, said once the game starts, they just want to be seen for the stripes and whistle. She said many female officials wear their hair up so they're seen more as “just guys officiating football.”

Mitchell said he often pairs veteran officials from the FCS SWAC with younger ones from the SIAC in Thursday night games.

Mitchell said the four women made an impression when they worked together at the leagues' latest football camp.

“As I watched them I said, ‘Wow, they look good,’” Mitchell said “It so happened that all of them were available on the same day.

“I said, ‘It's going to be neat to have them out there showing what good football officials they are.’”

see how it plays out.” Junior Ronnie Ausdemore and freshman Jake Neuhalfen are first-year varsity competitors.

The Class D girls' race is set for 2 p.m., with the Class D boys' race set for 3 p.m.

Laurel-Concord-Coleridge

With only four runners, the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge boys had no margin for error.

“Turns out they didn't need one. LCC, with just three sophomores and a senior, edged out Logan View for the final spot out of District D-3, earning a trip to state.

“We had a pretty good feeling we'd be between third and fourth,” said Bears head coach Megan Virgil. “We had been talking about state for the boys' team all season, but we knew we had a tough district.

“With only four runners, we had to make sure all four placed well.”

With sophomore Aaron Haahr, who finished 21st at state a year ago, leading the way, the Bears finished two points better than Logan View. The finishes for the Bears played out as they have all season, Virgil noted.

“Aaron has been our strongest runner. Adam Haahr (Sr.) and Jordan Jansen (So.) have been neck and neck, and usually come in together,” she said.

While the Bears might not be in the hunt for the team title, Virgil is hoping to see their top runner come home with hardware.

“I think Aaron can place, hopefully in the top 10,” she said. “Last year he was 20th, and he's really improved quite a bit.”

LCC also has one girl headed to Kearney, junior Sadie Petersen. Petersen, who placed third at districts, was 40th at state a year ago.

“I believe she'll be medalizing at state,” Virgil said. “She practiced all summer, lifting and running, to train for the extra 1,000 meters. She's been top-three at our harder meets.

“I look forward to seeing her compete at state.”

Bloomfield

Senior Breanna Gallup finished ninth in District D-3, earning a trip to state for a second straight season.

Gallup placed 10th at state a season ago.

Sophomores Tyler Haigh and Kyle Young placed 12th and 15th in the boys' district race, also qualifying for state.

Hartington

The Wildcats, competing in Class C, have one boy and one girl headed to state.

Sophomore Noah Noecker will compete in the boys' race, while junior Anna Brodersen will compete in the girls' race.

The Class C girls' race is at noon, with the Class C boys' race at 1 p.m.

Randolph

Sophomore Martine Erikson finished 15th in the girls' race, earning the final spot out of District D-3.
