"We pretty much draw about 40 volunteers per night. It takes a lot of people to run it each night," he said. "We guide people through eight or nine different rooms and hallways and passage ways. It's great to see a number of volunteers come and have fun."

The location may be new, but the same scary fun awaits those who dare to enter, Vehar said.

So what can visitors expect? Vehar isn't telling, but he hints you can expect things that go bump in the night.

"We have the scary clown, which is really popular," he said. "And we have fun and gross stuff, like organs coming out of bodies." The haunted house organ-

The haunted house organizers have publicized the project through word of mouth, Facebook and parade entries at Tabor, Menno and Scotland.

The publicity — and the haunted house's past success — have paid off, Vehar said.

"We have people come from quite a ways," he said. "A school district from Ne-
