SDSU
Livestock Research Assistant
Southeast Research Farm
South Dakota State University
The SDSU Southeast Research Farm at Beresford seeks to fill a Livestock Research Assistant position. The primary focus of this position will be on livestock research programs at the farm, but the person hired would also be engaged with crop and other farm research efforts as directed by the Operations Manager. The research farm at Beresford has an experimental feedlot facility for finishing up to 480 head of beef cattle, and an experimental hog finishing unit with a capacity for 300 animals. The farm also has a 70 acre block of crop land that is fenced for research on integrating grazing with crop production. Residing on-site is required in order to care for livestock and respond to monitoring and surveillance needs on other projects as needed. The person will implement assigned trials, including collecting and storing samples, recording data, and providing for the health and well-being of the livestock within the boundaries of research protocols. The position requires a B.S. degree in Animal Science, or another agriculture-related field with extensive livestock experience, and experience with commercial beef or hog production. Preferred qualifications include experience with maintenance and repair of farm equipment and experience with data management and statistical analysis. For further information about this position, contact Brad Rops at (605) 563-2989 or Bradley.Rops@sdstate.edu. SDSU actively seeks to increase social and intellectual diversity among its faculty. Women and persons underrepresented in higher education are especially encouraged to apply. To apply, visit <https://YourFuture.sdbor.edu>, search for the position, and follow the electronic application process. For questions on the electronic employment process, contact SDSU Human Resources at (605) 688-4128. SDSU is an AA/EEO employer.
