Hoeck: Former YHS Coach Hawk Still Knows His Football

BY JEREMY HOECK

jeremy.hoeck@yankton.net

Max Hawk still knows his football.

And he still likes to talk about the game that made him a legend in the South Dakota football coaching world. Hawk, now 82 and still living in Yankton, has not coached a high school football game in 21 years. Yet, his name is back in the news as his all-time wins record is about to fall. Sioux Falls O'Gorman coach Steve Kueter tied Hawk's record at 284 — oddly enough, in Yankton on Friday night — and will likely break the record next week in Rapid City coach Joe Glenn said. "They were too much for us.' Especially in the secondary.

The Penguins came in first in the FCS in pass defense (59.3), and aside from one big play, never let USD receivers find any space. That physical play was of particular frustration for Glenn, who said, "If they're going to let it go like that, we better find a way to practice against it.

Although the Coyotes were only out-gained 302-262 in yardage, they committed three turnovers which led directly to 17 points for Youngstown State - all three times giving the Penguins a short field.

"It's just something we have to get better this week, getting some momentum going on offense," said junior quarterback Ryan Saeger, who was 9-of-25 for 119 yards with one interception and four sacks. Youngstown State's first touchdown — a run by Martin Ruiz — capped off a 16-play drive midway through the first quarter. The Penguins then recovered a fumble and added a field goal to go up 10-0. The margin reached 24-0 before the Coyotes finally got the offense rolling, after a 63-yard pass play and then a Miles Bergner field goal.

The Penguins capped the scoring with a Hunter Wells touchdown pass to Shane Kuhn with 4:46 left in the game. but by that point, the outcome had already been decided.

Pelini had won in his return to the Midwest — later saying, "I could care less" when asked if it was significant to win back in this part of the country.

Although he was frustrated with his offense — "no rhythm" – Pelini said his defense is beginning to understand his scheme.

"If we continue to improve the way we are, we'll be able to do some good things," Pelini said.

Youngstown State's offense featured many of the same names USD has become accustomed to over the last couple years. Wells passed for 158 yards and two touchdowns (with two interceptions), while Ruiz rushed for 86 yards and two scores.

"They're very technically sound in what they do," USD senior linebacker Keyen Lage said. "I thought we executed well, but they're a good team and they executed very well.'

The Coyotes, meanwhile, have some work to do, Saeger said. They put the ball on the turf four times (losing two) and fumbled a punt return at the 2-vard line.

"We didn't help our defense out tonight, and that was the story of the night, we couldnt get anything going," Saeger said

"That's something I've got to do personally, pick my offense up."

Up next for the Coyotes is a trip to Macomb, Illinois, for a matchup next Saturday against Western Illinois — which won its league opener Saturday.

"It's the Missouri Valley, and anything's bound to happen," USD junior safety Tyson Graham said. "Hats off to them, but we've just got to get better.

242 yards and a touchdown.

The consistent pressure was one reason Wieneke was held in check, because Lujan rarely had time to allow plays to develop deep. Wieneke came into the game with 526 yards receiving and six touchdowns on the year, but NDSU cornerback CJ Smith played lockdown man defense on the big sophomore the entire game.

"I think it was our whole defense in general," Smith said. 'We took [Wieneke] as a challenge upon our whole defense and I think we did a good job.' SDSU finished with 238 yards total offense, while NDSU racked up 385. Some other ugly stats that the Jackrabbits would rather forget: • First downs: NDSU 22, SDSU 12

• Penalties: NDSU 6 for 63 yards; SDSU 10 for 89 yards • Third-down conversions:

NDSU 11 of 16: SDSU 2 of 15 Despite the loss, junior SDSU linebacker Jesse Bobbit, who led the Jacks with 13 total tackles, said he doesn't think the team's confidence will be affected.

"We just have to come out [next week] and dominate every play," Bobbit said.

SDSU wraps up its fourgame home stand Saturday at 6 p.m. against Indiana State.

NOTES: Saturday was the 104th meeting between NDSU and SDSU. The Bison lead the series 59-40-5. The record crowd of more than 17,000 beat the previous record of 16,498 set in 2013 in a game against the Bison.

The returning lineup has Brenner excited as well. "It will be interesting to see what happens next year," he said. "I'm already thinking about it. We'll start preparing
