“The coaches are a big reason,” Neuhalfen said. “And we bond together while we’re running.”

“It was that bond, combined with an expectation of another competitive district, that keyed the Warriors to titles on both sides, their coach said.

“They all stepped up; every one of them, because they knew Northeast Nebraska is really strong this year,” Jayne Arens said. “And they really worked hard to push themselves.”

Up next for Crofton is the Nebraska State Cross Country Meet is Oct. 23 in Kearney, where the girls will go for a 10th consecutive state championship.

“It’ll be good to go out there with some experience,” Zavadil said.
