elements with silver and stone, creating pieces steeped in tradition but fit for a modern world.

Ramsey Tucker is the grandson of Linda and Paul. Ramsey was also born in Rosebud and by the age of five was spending most of his free time in his grandfather's studio. During this time together Ramsey would try and do everything he saw his grandfather doing — and he was a quick study! Ramsey was very good at sawing silver and this accomplishment led to experimenting with other techniques in Paul's shop. Ramsey loved working the ring bender and eventually started making rings for people. He currently sells his jewelry at Soldier Woman Gallery. This show will be Ramsey's second exhibit and all the proceeds from his sales are put into his savings account; which may be used someday to purchase his own silver smithing equipment.

The exhibit is in the gallery until mid October and the Szabo family will be our guests on Oct. 1; the next scheduled First Friday event here in Yankton. It is a wonderful exhibit and I would encourage you come down and see the talent this amazing family has which spans three generations!
