Delmont

Festival takes place both days. Lunch again will be served in the basement.

Also as part of the Kuchen Festival, the Quilt Show again will be at the Community Building, this year featuring Delmont quilter Lil Wieting's quilts and needlework. Many other quilts also will be displayed in the event chaired by Dee Fink and Glendine Heinert.

Across the street at the former Dick's Market building, the Art Show featuring local area artists is set for both days. Artists who haven't been contacted may bring their work this afternoon for setup, or contact Sam Grosz for information.

The Historical Society also commissioned artist Linda Schroder, Armour, to paint a picture of Delmont. Prints will be available at both the Legion Hall and at the Art Show, where Schroder will be displaying more of her work.

Also at Dick's Market, memorabilia from the past 125 years will be displayed, plus a silent auction will be set up with many donated items offered.

Further west on Main Street, the Pumphouse Museum and the jail will be open both afternoons for visitors. Local sand pit bone finds are on display, as well as many items from the city's earlier days. The pumphouse still holds the equipment that pumped the town's water.

About two blocks west from city limits, the Twin Rivers Old Iron Association members have been working hard to make improvements to their farm for the Old Time Harvest Festival.

"Each year the event gets bigger and better" said President Glennis Stern, "with this year's no exception." Volunteers have completed the old barn, applied steel to the sides of the bundler shed, and poured a track for the kid's pedal pull, he said.

Oliver is featured this year, but all makes of tractors and machinery, as well as exhibitors, are welcome and will be displayed, said Stern. A parade at the farm is planned both afternoons, in keeping with past tradition.

A Barrel Train Ride for youngsters will be dividing its time between downtown and the farm this year.

Fireworks are planned for Saturday evening at dusk, but earlier in the evening, the Old Time Fiddlers will be playing during the barbecue supper.

Sunday's pancake brunch and non-denominational church service is again being held. Many events too numerous to mention are planned both days, and the schedule is found at www.delmontsd.org.

At 11 a.m. Sunday morning in front of the Legion Hall, a 9/11 commemoration will be held, thanks to the Delmont American Legion. Following that, the Chili Cook-Off begins across the street between Delmont Lumber and the Delmont Steakhouse. Area firefighters have been invited to cook their best pot of chili, with the public able to sample and vote for their favorite.

Out at the ballfield, about 250 flags will be displayed. Lexine Goehring noted that Norb Wenzel, ever the Delmont supporter, donated the $300 necessary for lighting the ball field for the three-day weekend so that the flags would always be in the light.

"This celebration is something that shouldn't be missed," said 125th Chair Earla Strid. "There is something for everyone."

who has worked several states, and he judged the fiddle, accordion, singing contest and harmonica during the LeMars festival.

"It was a strong week (at LeMars)," Foss said. "It's one of the biggest music festivals in the country."

Foss now turns his attention to the 39th annual Old Time Fiddlers festival Sept. 16-18 at the Pine Acres 4-H Building in Yankton. He has been closely associated with the festival throughout its history.

"With the Old Time Fiddlers, I am surprised that we get people who come a long way (to play)," he said. "It's not uncommon to get them from 400 to 500 miles away, just like a big, happy family. They like to renew those friendships each year."

Sunday's induction into the South Dakota Country Music Hall of Fame will add one more honor to Foss's storied musical career. But he doesn't measure happiness by such accolades. He counts his friends and experiences as his riches.

"I was a school teacher for six years, a hardware merchant for 17 years and a banker for 25 years. I also served in the State Senate for two years," he said. "I've had a great life."
