Avera Yankton Ear, Nose & Throat will be offering "Coping with Hearing Loss," a free educational forum at 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 19, in the Avera Professional Office Pavilion and Education Center.

Adjusting to hearing loss involves more than just turning up the TV volume and getting hearing aids.

Research has shown that hearing loss can lead to less social activity, more isolation, increased sadness and depression, and more episodes of feeling tense, irritable and anxious. Working through feelings about hearing loss can be an important step in the healing process.

Information on coping strategies will be presented and time will be given for participants to discuss adjusting to hearing loss and other important topics.

Again, this forum is open to the public and there is no charge. Cookies, coffee and soft drinks will be available. Call to register at 605-665-6820.

Homeless Count Planned For Sept. 27

PIERRE — South Dakota Housing for the Homeless Consortium (SDHHC), an affiliate of South Dakota Housing Development Authority, will conduct its annual statewide homeless count on Sept. 27.

"We are asking for volunteers to join others who are committed to ending homelessness to assist in conducting the count," said Lisa Bondy, State Coordinator for SDHHC.

Volunteers are trained, teamed up, and given the supplies and information necessary to conduct the count in their neighborhoods, communities, or counties. The count is conducted by interacting with both service agencies and homeless individuals. SDHHC's goal this year, with the help of volunteers, is to reach the more rural areas of the state.

The statewide survey is broken down into three geographical areas according to counties: West River, East River and Central South Dakota. Stacey Tieszen, Coordinator of the Homeless Advisory Board in Sioux Falls is leading the survey in the eastern part of the state. Andrea Denke with Black Hills Region Homeless Coalition will handle the West River area. South Dakota Housing Development Authority (SDHDA) in Pierre is the contact for the remaining areas of the state.

Some of the key findings in 2010 were:

- Of the 1,728 homeless individuals, 459 were women, 809 were men and 446 were children.
- The prime reasons for homelessness were alcoholism, inability to pay rent, and unemployment.
- Of those surveyed 339 individuals reported being homeless for the first time in 3 years.

Reducing the number of homeless individuals is a national and state priority. By combining the results from this count with a plan of action, SDHHC can assist its members in seeking the appropriate changes to address these problems.

SDHHC encourages anyone who is interested in participating in this effort to please contact one of the Coordinators in your area.
