RSVP Set To Celebrate Senior Corps Week

The Retired & Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) in Yankton is joining the nation in celebrating Senior Corps Week, set for Sept. 19-23. During this special week, events are held to recognize not just the durability and effectiveness of RSVP, but also the unique ability that Americans 55 and over possess to use their wisdom, professional skills, and experience to cultivate and nurture the kind of change that makes a lasting impact.

RSVP is making a difference in many communities, with RSVP volunteers contributing almost 34,000 volunteer hours last year and making life better for those in the Yankton area. Helping children read in our elementary schools, feeding our neighbors in need, and assisting in the recent flood are just a few ways RSVP volunteers give back to the community. Everyone age 55 and over is invited to visit our information table at The Center, 900 Whiting Drive, Yankton, at 1-3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 22, to find more out about RSVP. While at The Center, you can observe RSVP volunteers "in action" instructing a class in the computer lab and using their professional skills to teach others.

For more information about becoming a volunteer with the Retired & Senior Volunteer Program, contact Deb at 260-3100 or stop by the office at 610 West 23rd Street.

Harrington Lecture To Feature USD Professor

VERMILLION — Randal Quevillon, Ph.D., professor of psychology at the University of South Dakota, will present the 59th annual Harrington Lecture at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 20, at Farber Hall, which is located inside Old Main.

Quevillon, who is chair of the psychology department at USD, will present the program, "Scholars of Community in the Community of Scholars." As a specialist in rural community interventions and the stress of agricultural life for the Disaster Mental Health Institute, Quevillon has served as a community consultant for the American Red Cross following the Hurricane Katrina disaster in the New Orleans area in 2005 and as a Disaster Mental Health Services volunteer to the World Trade Center three days after the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, 2001.

Quevillon received a Ph.D. in clinical psychology and a master's degree in psychology from the University of Montana, and graduated with a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

The Harrington Lecture Series, originally called the "Annual Lecture on Liberal Education," was re-named in 1966 in honor of the late Elbert Harrington, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and Professor Emeritus of communication. The Harrington Lecture is an annual event featuring a distinguished professor with long-standing service to the College of Arts and Sciences. Doors for the program, which is free to open to the public, will open at 6:30 p.m.

Forum Set For Businesses Affected By Flood

PIERRE — The South Dakota Retailers Association, the local Economic Development offices, and the Yankton Chamber of Commerce, will host a public question-and-answer forum in Yankton next week about potential federal assistance for businesses affected by Missouri River flooding.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 21, from 2-3:30 p.m. in the City of Yankton Community Room at RTEC (1200 W. 21st Street).

"I encourage all businesses that have experienced or may experience any amount of flood impact to attend this forum and learn about assistance they may be eligible to receive, if any," said Gov. Dennis Daugaard.

The meeting will feature a panel of representatives from the Small Business Administration (SBA) and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), as well as state officials from the Department of Labor and Regulation, and the Governor's Office of Economic Development.

Time will also be available for questions from the audience about financing, applications, or federal programs.

Anyone with questions should submit them via e-mail to BusinessFloodingQuestions@state.sd.us.

All businesses affected by the flood should visit the SBA website (SBA.gov/disaster) to view available programs in advance of the Sept. 21 meeting.

Many programs exist for businesses that have suffered physical damage or have suffered lost revenue or other financial impacts resulting from the flood.

Hospice is a special kind of care designed to provide support for people in the final phase of terminal illness. Hospice is a steadily growing concept of humane and compassionate care that can be implemented in a variety of settings such as patient homes, hospitals and long-term care facilities.
