Munitions Response Site Prioritization Protocol South Dakota Army National Guard

The South Dakota Army National Guard has, in the past, conducted munitions training in many locations across the state of South Dakota. Currently, these munitions response sites are being inspected and/or evaluated as part of the Military Munitions Response Program (MMRP). Taking into consideration various factors relating to safety and environmental hazard potential, the South Dakota Army National Guard intends to apply the Munitions Response Site Prioritization Protocol (MRSP) at the sites listed below. Through direction provided by Congress, the Department of Defense (DoD) has developed the MRSP to assign priority for cleanup to sites of suspected unexploded ordnance, discarded military munitions or munitions constituents. The SD Army National Guard intends to apply the Munitions Response Site Prioritization Protocol (MRSP) at the following potential Military Munitions Response Program sites:

Non-Department of Defense Owned Non-Operational Defense Site (NDNODS) Brookings Small Arms Range (SDHQ-001-R-01)

NDNODS Deadman Canyon (SDHQ-002-R-01)

2010 Legal and Public Notices

types of munitions that may be potentially present, assessing land uses, determining ease of access to sites, and quantifying the number of people with access to sites. Information collected will be used to apply the MRSP and will be made available for public review in accordance with the 32 CFR part 179 requirements.

You are invited to participate in the scoring of the MRSP and provide comment to the South Dakota Army National Guard. If you have or would like additional information about these munitions response sites or other potential munitions response sites associated with the South Dakota Army National Guard, please contact LTC James Peterson at 605-737-6502 or james.peterson1@us.army.mil

Eleanor Mondale, Daughter Of Walter Mondale, Dies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Eleanor Mondale, the vivacious daughter of former Vice President Walter Mondale who carved out her own reputation as an entertainment reporter, radio show host and gossip magnet, has died at her home in Minnesota. She was 51.

Mondale, who had been diagnosed with brain cancer years earlier, died early Saturday, said family spokeswoman Lynda Pedersen said.

In a statement emailed to friends, the former vice president said he and his wife "must report that our wonderful daughter, Eleanor Mondale Poling, after her long and gutsy battle against cancer, went up to heaven last night to be with her angel."

Eleanor Mondale had been off the air at WCCO-AM in Minneapolis since March 19, 2009, when she announced that her brain cancer had returned a second time. She had surgery to remove the tumor Aug. 12, 2009, at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and a posting on her CaringBridge website declared the surgery a success.

A striking blonde known on the party circuit when she was younger, Eleanor Mondale also attracted gossip. Her dalliance with the late rock musician Warren Zevon was detailed in "I'll Sleep When I'm Dead: The Dirty Life and Times of Warren Zevon," a posthumous biography published by Zevon's ex-wife in 2007.

Mondale started as an aspiring actress, with bit parts in television's "Three's Company" and "Dynasty."

After stints at Minneapolis radio station WLOL-FM, on cable television at E! Entertainment and ESPN and network TV on CBS' "This Morning," she returned to Minnesota in 2006 to co-host a weekday morning show on WCCO-AM with Susie Jones.
