Disaster Distress Helpline Offers Drought Assistance

Due to the drought across much of South Dakota, many rural communities are experiencing economic stress due to the financial threat to their livelihoods.

The Disaster Distress Helpline is the first nationwide hotline dedicated to providing disaster crisis counseling. The toll free Disaster Distress Helpline 1-800-985-5990 can provide immediate crisis counseling to anyone who needs help in dealing with the effects of the extreme heat and subsequent droughts occurring across the country. This free, confidential and multilingual, crisis support service is available via telephone (800-985-5990) and SMA (Text 'TalkWithUs' to 66746) to residents who are experiencing emotional distress as a result of natural or human caused disasters. The Helpline staff provides confidential crisis counseling, referrals and other needed support services. The Helpline is a 24 hour-a-day, seven day a week resource that responds to people who need crisis counseling after experiencing a natural or man-made disaster or tragedy.

Because it is known that severe stress can lead some people to a state of hopelessness and despair, here is a reminder that the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline is also available 24/7 with trained and caring counselors from across the nation to respond to callers at 1-800-273-TALK (8255).

You can find additional information about disaster behavioral health preparedness, response, and recovery by visiting the SAMHSA DTAC Website at <http://www.samhsa.gov/dtac/>.
