Scrubs Camp In Yankton Oct. 1

Area high school students will have an opportunity to explore a variety of health career options during Scrubs Camp, Oct. 1 in Yankton.

Scrubs Camps are one-day learning experiences conducted at 14 locations throughout the state. Campers will hear from healthcare professionals who will discuss what they do and how they got into their chosen career field. They will also be able to participate in exciting hands-on activities and receive personalized career guidance plans.

Scrubs Camps are designed for high school students with an interest in the healthcare field. There is no charge to attend, lunch is provided at the camp and students will also receive a free T-shirt. Parents are also welcome to attend the camp with their participating student.

The Yankton Scrubs Camp will be held at the Professional Office Pavilion on the Avera Sacred Heart Hospital campus in Yankton. Pre-registration for the camp is necessary. To register for the camp, visit www.scrubscamps.sd.gov/.

One of the most pressing issues facing the healthcare industry today is the critical need for healthcare providers. This is especially true for South Dakota. In the coming years, thousands of additional healthcare workers will be needed in South Dakota. Scrubs Camps were designed to encourage students in South Dakota to consider pursuing a career in healthcare.

The Scrubs Camps are made possible through the collaborative effort of the South Dakota Department of Education Office of Curriculum, Career and Technical Education and South Dakota Department of Health Office of Rural Health.

Locations hosting Scrubs Camps in 2013-2014 are: Aberdeen, Chamberlain, Faith, Huron, Madison, Mitchell, Mobridge, Pierre, Rapid City, Sioux Falls, Spearfish, Vermillion, Watertown and Yankton.

Slaba going to do this year?"

During Monday's parade, angels graced one heavenly float from a local church. On the rowdier side, other entries featured men in hula skirts, a Mardi Gras band, court jesters, and hillbillies with an outhouse.

Then things became a real zoo. Floats were filled with giraffes, elephants, lions and tigers — oh, my! For good measure, a life-sized chipmunk (reportedly not Alvin) walked the parade route.

Not to be outdone, a dog helped drive one entry, and an ape rode in the front seat of a vehicle.

The parade, which included about 100 entries, also featured the traditional variety of entries from Wagner, surrounding communities and the Yankton Sioux Tribe.

The parade was but one highlight of a packed three-day celebration. While Saturday and Sunday were filled with activities, the action didn't stop on Monday.

For example, the Festival in the Park drew visitors who checked out the arts, crafts, food and entertainment.

Garry and Barb Johnson of Freeman found themselves in a real jam — and jelly. Their "Lip Smacking Premium Jellies" featured some unique flavors, including a tomato jelly. "It took us four tries to get this recipe just right," Garry Johnson said with a note of satisfaction.

Across the park, the picnic shelter became the site for an array of entertainment.

During the noon hour, Wagner native Jim Bridge sang for the audience. Bridge, a fan of country music star Toby Keith, belted out Keith's song "American Soldier" with an emotional edge.

Bridge serves in the Alexandria-based Hanson school district as superintendent, athletic director and head girls basketball coach. He enjoyed returning to his hometown as part of a new singing pursuit.

"This is about the sixth time I have performed (for an audience)," he told the Press

& Dakotan between songs.

Wagner police chief Tim Simonsen took time out to swing by the park and check out the activity. Besides greeting a number of visitors, he got the chance to see his 4-month-old grandson, Chason.

The Wagner police force maintains a 24/7 presence in the community, Simonsen said. The local unit receives assistance from other agencies as needed for the large influx of visitors during the Labor Day weekend celebration, he said.

Simonsen believed the estimate of 10,000 parade spectators was right on target. Preparations began long before Monday morning's parade, he said.

"I had to get permission from the state to close down Highway 46 (as part of the route)," he said.

All in all, this year's Labor Day celebration went smoothly, Simonsen said. "It's been a good weekend," he said.

As activities wound down, Slaba noted the 113-year-old Labor Day celebration carries a tremendous amount of community pride.

"People have always rallied around it," he said. "It's just really important, the way the Wagner community is willing to put themselves out there (for the Labor Day celebration). To them, this is a huge invite to everybody to see what Wagner is all about. They put their heart and soul out there."

The event celebrates not only Wagner's past and present but also its future, Slaba said.

"The committee and everybody else pulls together to make sure this event epitomizes how Wagner has been over the last century, how we are going to continue and what we want to do for our community and our region," he said.

"In my opinion, Labor Day events demonstrate the Wagner community and surrounding area's continued expression of pride in who we are and what we have to offer. It's just a whole lot of fun."

ON THIS DATE

75 YEARS AGO

Saturday, September 3, 1938
• Eight teams of two men each have taken the field here in the drive to raise $2,000 which is the condition to the holding of the annual Yankton-Gurney Fall Festival some time in early October. This drive is being conducted by the retail merchants' committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and September 9 has been fixed as the deadline for completing it.
• In spite of cramped pool facilities a number of Yankton young people acquired efficiency in the swimming art this summer. Harold L. Clark, chairman of life saving and first aid instruction for the Yankton county chapter of Red Cross reports.

50 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, September 3, 1963
• Windows at the Yankton Rambler Sales and Singer Sewing Machine company and Yankton city hall were cracked last Monday and early this morning by firecrackers, according to Yankton police.

Injuries have already begun to take their toll on the Wakonda Warrior football team. Coach Loren Humpal reports that Larry Hurd and Glenn Strand, a pair of senior lettermen have been hurt in pre-season scrimmages and will be lost for the year.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, September 3, 1988
• Personnel of local businesses that are new, moving, or expanding see a bright economic future for

Yankton in their crystal balls. Kathy Wright, Downtown Yankton (Main Street) project manager, said since February about seven different businesses already have opened, or are planning to open in the downtown area.

• The spokesman for a group opposing a phone deregulation law on Friday called for an investigation into the use of private investigators to check those who circulated referral petitions. The petitions were circulated and filed to force a public vote in November on a law that would partially deregulate US West.
