It wasn't just handed to us, she said. "These games haven't been easy. Last year we were close with teams, but now we have that fire, like 'Heck no, we hate that losing feeling."

Before the Aug. 30 game at Wyoming, Green said she could tell by the team's mentality that they were about to win. Talk about prophetic. The Coyotes won 2-1 in over-

From there, USD has three remaining non-conference games before the Summit League opener Oct. 4 at Omaha. In the meantime, the focus remains on staying true to what has worked so far, Green said.

"We've got players who are buying in more this year than they ever have," she said. "They're committed to really good defense.

"Now they're seeing all this work they've put in finally paying off."

Huskers

The Bruins no longer have Johnathan Franklin, who ran for a career-high 217 yards against the Huskers, or big tight end Joseph Fauria, who caught two TD passes.

But they have a quality back in junior Jordon James, who had 155 yards and a touchdown in the opener, and a deep receiving group led by Shaquelle Evans. Senior defensive back

Ciante Evans said besides

Ohio State's Braxton Miller,

Hundley is the best quarterback he's faced. Hundley accounted for 358 yards of total offense and four touchdowns against the Huskers. One of the things that make him such a challenge is his ability to avoid pressure while his receivers work to get open.

"We have to cover longer. That's our job," Evans said. "Extended plays are going to happen Saturday. We have to get used to it and practice it throughout the week.' Pelini said his young defense has been mostly on point with its tackling, but he based that on games against Wyoming and Southern Miss. The degree of difficulty increases significantly against the Bruins, whose spread offense creates space and one-on-one matchups for its playmakers. Last year's loss to UCLA was the Huskers' closest of the season and a precursor to defensive meltdowns against Ohio State on the road. Wisconsin in the Big Ten championship game and Georgia in the Capital One

"It was our first loss and it was a loss out there that we feel we shouldn't have had,' defensive end Jason Ankrah said. "It's one of those losses we took into our offseason program, and it provided motivation.'

Evans said UCLA "deserved every bit" of the victory last year. 'All the losses are a sticking point, especially when you want to win them all," he said. "We remember them. We remember this one as a team. Hopefully we'll come out with a sense of urgency this week.'
