Voter Info. Event Planned For Friday

The Yankton Democratic Party will be hosting an informational and social meet-and-greet this Friday, Sept. 26, beginning at 5 p.m. This event will be held outside of the Yankton Democratic Party headquarters located at the corner of Third St. and Capital (232 Capital Street) in Historic Downtown Yankton. There will be refreshments available and the event is open to the public.

This event will feature discussions of the ballot issues that voters will consider in the upcoming election. There is a constitutional amendment, two initiated measures and a county ordinance to decide. There will be folks on hand to explain the ballot issues and we will have a moderated discussion of each issue. Voters who have questions about the ballot issues or who have opinions on the issues are encouraged to attend to air their views and exchange ideas with other voters.

Early voting for this election has already begun and voters can register and vote at the same time until Oct. 20. After that time, voters must be registered in order to vote. Information on how, where and when voters can cast their ballots early, including sample ballots will be available at the event.

Anyone interested in information on early voting or anyone who needs assistance getting to the polling place to cast their votes can contact the Yankton Democratic Party at (605) 260-0527.

S.D. Chess Championships This Weekend

VERMILLION — The 2014 South Dakota Chess Championship will be held Sept. 27-28 at the Holiday Inn Express in Vermillion.

There will be an overall tournament winner receiving a trophy as the 2014 South Dakota Chess Champion, and a 19 years and under junior champion will also receive a trophy.

This tournament is held annually and usually alternates between West and East River venues. The S.D. Chess Championship was last held in Vermillion in 2005. Players from around the state will come together to play five games each to determine the winner.

More details on the tournament are available at the South Dakota Chess Association website.

Mountain Bike Event Set For Saturday

This Saturday, Ace Bike and Fitness of Yankton is hosting a "Take a Kid Mountain Biking" event on the primitive trails located on the south side of the Meridian Bridge.

There will be demonstrations on how to do minor repairs on bikes, safety tips and rules of the road/trail.

There will be no cost to participate, and the only things required are off-road bicycles and helmets.

For more information, contact Ken Kopetsky at Ace Bike and Fitness at 260-BIKE.

Bravo Battery To Hold Open House

Bravo Battery, 1-147th FA will be hosting an Open House event at its armory in Yankton on Saturday, Sept. 27, from 1-4 p.m.

Soldiers will set up various weapon system and equipment displays for the public to view, and will field questions about the systems. Also on display will be vehicles, including those used during deployment and support of the Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS).

Refreshments will be served as the public is encouraged to mingle with soldiers and learn about their experiences in the South Dakota Army National Guard.

Indian Education Summit This Weekend

PIERRE — The 2014 Indian Education Summit will be held Sept. 28-30 at the Best Western Ramkota Hotel in Pierre.

The theme of the 11th annual event is "From Every Beginning, a Bright Future."

Keynote speakers include Brian Frejo and John Gritts. Frejo is a motivational speaker and founder of Created 4 Greatness, an organization in Oklahoma City. He encourages Native youth to achieve educational success, stay drug and alcohol free and celebrate their Native identity.

Gritts works with federal student aid programs within the U.S. Department of Education. He will share his experiences helping Native students navigate the financial aid process.

South Dakota artist Dick Termes will speak and lead breakout sessions. Termes creates spherical paintings known as Termespheres. He has taught at the elementary through postsecondary levels and explores concepts in the interaction between art and math.

The summit will also feature a school board panel, student-led discussions and a speaker from the Bureau of Indian Education. Gov. Dennis Daugaard will give the closing address Tuesday, Sept. 30.

The Indian Education Summit provides a forum for educators, board members, tribal leaders and parents to come together for a statewide conversation about the education of American Indian youth.

USD Music Professors Named To Endowed Professorships

VERMILLION — The University of South Dakota College of Fine Arts has announced that Traceelyn Gesteland, D.M.A., associate professor of music (voice), has been named the Walter A. and Lucy Yoshioka Buhler Endowed Chair, and David Holdhusen, Ph.D., associate professor of music (choral), received the Douglas and Susan Tuve Distinguished Professorship in Choral Music.

These gifts from Lucy Yoshioka Buhler and the late Walter A. Buhler, and the Tuves, will provide funding for Gesteland's music position and Holdhusen's professorship at USD. These funds will be used to "recognize, recruit, and retain an exceptional faculty person who consistently demonstrates exemplary scholarship and performance in the classroom and a dedication to the following principles: ethical leadership in the classroom, a commitment to lifelong learning and global awareness." Both donations will impact the department of music for generations to come, according to Larry Schou, D.M.A., dean of the College of Fine Arts.

"Doug and Susan Tuve are generous benefactors to the College of Fine Arts," Schou added. "They have a special interest in choral music. They desire to see that a continuously strong tradition of excellent choral music thrives at USD. Their gift of an endowment helps us to continue to achieve great things in the Department of Music."

Gesteland was recently promoted to associate professor of music and granted tenure at USD. She teaches voice, diction, and opera. She also performs in operas, presents solo recitals, and directs opera performances within the region.

"Dr. Gesteland is an outstanding educator and musician. She is very well respected in the region as a performer and workshop specialist," Schou noted. "She also does exceptional work in the classroom to prepare our students for a life-long career in music. Her students have won many awards in the past six years."

Holdhusen serves as the interim chair of the department of music and is the director of Choral Activities at the university. He directs the USD Chamber Singers, teaches choral literature and conducts classes.

"Dr. Holdhusen is an exceptional conductor and his students in the choral area praise him for the work he does to educate them and prepare them for a life in music," Schou stated. "He is a well-respected clinician in the region and his choral groups have won several national awards in the past three years."
