Author, Illustrator To Discuss Book

Join author Marilyn Kratz and illustrator Beverly Behrens at the Yankton Community Library on Sunday, Sept. 13, from 2-3:30 p.m., as they launch their new book "Quilts and Country Gardens-Remembering a Simpler Time." Talks begin at 2:30 p.m., with book purchasing and signing taking place both before and after the presentations.

For more information about this event, contact the library at 668-5275.

Kooser Slated For MMC Sunday

Two-time United States Poet Laureate Ted Kooser will present an evening of readings at Mount Marty College's Marian Auditorium as part of MMC's Great Plains Writers' Tour at 7 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13. There will also be a book-signing event.

Kooser is the author of 14 full-length collections of poetry, including "Splitting An Order" (2014); "Weather Central" and "Delights and Shadows," which won the 2005 Pulitzer Prize. His prose books include "The Wheeling Year" (2014) and "Local Wonders: Seasons in the Bohemian Alps," which won the Nebraska Book Award for Nonfiction in 2003.

His writing has appeared in many periodicals including The Atlantic Monthly, Poetry, The Hudson Review, The Nation, The American Poetry Review, The Kenyon Review, Prairie Schooner and Antioch Review. He has received two NEA fellowships in poetry and written three children's books from Candlewick Press: "The Bell in the Bridge" (2015), "Bag in the Wind," illustrated by Barry Root, and "The House Held Up by Trees."

This event is free and open to the public.

For more information, contact the Director of the Great Plains Writers' Tour, Jim Reese, at 605-668-1362 or james.reese@mtmc.edu.

Karolevitz Ice Cream Social Sept. 16

The Yankton Community Library, 515 Walnut Street, is hosting an Ice Cream Social in conjunction with the Bob Karolevitz Exhibit on Wednesday, Sept. 16, from 6-7:30 p.m.

This will be an informal gathering to visit with World War II veterans in attendance and Phyllis Karolevitz, who graciously shared Bob's photos and letters.

Enjoy a dish of ice cream and plan to take time to view the exhibit through a self-guided tour. Information on each of the pictures gives you a look into the life of a soldier during this time in our nation's history.

For more information, contact the library at 668-5275.

YHS Homecoming Parade Sept. 18

All Yankton Public School students, including grades K-12, will be dismissed at 2 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 18, for the Yankton High School Pioneer Days Homecoming Parade. Preschool and JrK students at Webster should be picked up at 1:45 p.m. from school.

Busses will leave at approximately 2:15 p.m. from the YMS exchange.

The parade will begin at 2:30 p.m. at Riverside Drive and Pearl St., proceed North to 3rd St., west on 3rd St. to cedar St., South on Cedar St. and east on Riverside Drive ending at Douglas St.

If inclement weather occurs, the parade will be cancelled and school be in session.

'Fall In The Park' Event Slated Sept. 19

"Fall in the Park at Lewis and Clark" will take place at the Lewis and Clark Recreation Area west of Yankton on Saturday, Sept. 19, from 1-5 p.m.

New events this year include the Zoomobile, Wii Ski (jet ski simulator), TIPS (Turn in Poachers) trailer, miniature golf, butterfly maze, face painting, fish tank, ducks unlimited games, nature bingo and a nature scavenger hunt.

Returning activities include air rifles and archery, Dutch oven cooking, obstacle course, photo board, lemonade stand, popcorn, crafts and games for all ages, and preschool activities.

The Public Domain Tune Band will provide entertainment.

A park entrance license is required. For more information, call 605-668-2985.

Tickets may be purchased from the YHS choir members or at the door. Activity tickets will not be accepted.

The Bookworm ... For Kids

Take A Look At The 'Sunny Side'

"Sunny Side Up" by Jennifer L. Holm & Matthew Holm, color by Lark Pien; © 2015, Scholastic; 224 pages.

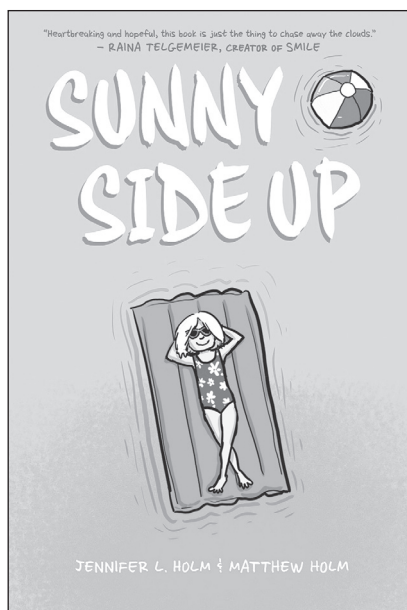

BY TERRI SCHLICHENMEYER

If it was a snake, it would've bit you. Odd words from your grandmother, meaning that whatever you were looking for was practically right in front of you but you didn't see it. It was out in the open but, well, you missed it. That happens — just as there are times when you see too much and, as in the new book "Sunny Side Up" by Jennifer L. Holm & Matthew Holm, you wish you hadn't.

Under any other circumstances, 10-year-old Sunny would have been excited to travel by herself from Philadelphia to Florida to see her grandpa.

But this time was different. Much as she loved Grandpa, Sunny would miss home. It would be a whole month before she'd see her best friend; they were supposed to go on vacation together before school started, but that wasn't happening now. She'd miss back-to-school shopping for school supplies and new clothes, and she'd even miss her baby brother, Teddy.

It was usually fun at Grandpa's house, but that was different, too. Sunny had to wear a visitor's pass at all times. There were no pets allowed and no other kids at the retirement community (except for the groundskeeper's son, who was nice, and who taught her about comic book superheroes). All of Grandpa's friends were Grandpa's age and they ate dinner weirdly early. There was a pool on the grounds but almost nobody swam there; when Sunny tried to play Marco Polo, she was told to shush, that Marco died of a heart attack a month ago.

What's worse was Grandpa's smoking, and the lies he told about it. He claimed he was quitting soon because his doctor said he had to, but Sunny couldn't see it. Grandpa said that the extra cigarette packs she kept finding were for "emergencies." He obviously hoped Sunny wouldn't notice them.

Oh, but she did! Just like she noticed the pull-out sofa she slept on was uncomfortable. Just like she noticed that she was having a terrible time! Just like she noticed that her parents sent her to Florida after her big brother got into major trouble. And that, Sunny noticed, was possibly her fault ...

How many times a week do you have to help your preteen find something that's practically right in front of her? Here's a tip: she'll keep track of "Sunny Side Up," no problems.

Quick to read (because it's in graphic novel form), this semi-autobiographical story offers 9- to 12-year-olds comfort in times of a family crisis with substance abuse. Brother-sister authors Jennifer L. Holm & Matthew Holm explain in their afterword that, like their young heroine, they were "bystanders to this behavior" and experienced confusion, guilt, sadness, and the feeling that everything's upside down. Even so, they manage to give Sunny a bit of humor, some lightness and a decent happy ending.

This isn't necessarily a book for teens dealing with issues — but if it is, I'd recommend reading it first to gauge its appropriateness. Then give her "Sunny Side Up" and watch while she bites into it.

Mike Connor, left, and Boyd Bristow, right, seen here with Jim Groth before the trio's tribute to Bob Dylan and the Byrds in June, return to Gayville Hall on Saturday, Sept. 19, at 8 p.m. with bandmate Guy Gullickson for a '50's and '60's music show titled "A Blast from the Past: An Evening of Classic Pop and Rock."

Pop Music Tribute Set For Sept. 19 At Gayville Hall

GAYVILLE — Gayville Hall and veteran Sioux Falls musicians Boyd Bristow, Mike Connor, and Guy Gullickson present "A Blast from the Past: An Evening of Classic Pop and Rock" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19, in Gayville.

The show will celebrate popular music of the 1950s and '60s from such stars as Tennessee Ernie Ford to Bobby Darin and from Sam Cook and Elvis to the Beatles. The Sioux Falls musicians grew up during that era and love to perform the great tunes of those times.

Gullickson was an original member of the legendary 1970's South Dakota rock band, Dry Mustard, and performed in many other bands in South Dakota and Colorado. He performed with Connor in the Midlife Crisis

Band in recent years.

Connor, who attended the Berklee School of Music in Boston, has performed in the "S.D. Acoustic Christmas" concerts for 20 years and in many folk and rock groups. He is on the board of directors of the S.D. Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.

Bristow was in two S.D. Rock-and-Roll Hall of Fame bands, Blueberry Buckle and Red Willow, as well as the 1980's Nashville group he founded, The Travelin' Band, which backed country music stars on the road.

Gayville Hall is at 502 Washington Street in Gayville. Call 605-267-2859 for ticket information.

Vermillion

'One Book South Dakota' Event Sept. 21

VERMILLION — The 2015 One Book South Dakota is "Ordinary Grace," by William Kent Krueger. The Edith B. Siegrist Vermillion Public Library will host a facilitated discussion of the book at 3:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 21. The discussion will be facilitated by Cyndy Chaney on behalf of Osher Lifelong Learning Institute.

Following the facilitated discussion, there will be a Meet & Greet with William Kent Krueger at Raziell's, downtown Vermillion, from 5-6:30 p.m. The evening will conclude with a special presentation by the author at 7 p.m. back at the library.

In the novel, published by Simon and Schuster and set in southern Minnesota, Krueger explores the issue of spirituality and his own childhood, writing about issues that he's grappled with since a young age. The novel is a brilliantly moving account of a boy standing at the door of his young manhood, trying to understand a world that seems to be falling apart around him. It is an unforgettable novel about rediscovering the terrible price of wisdom and the enduring grace of God.

Since 2003, the One Book South Dakota program has encouraged all South Dakotans to read and discuss the same novel or memoir throughout the course of a year. Community and book groups receive books on loan and can invite a South Dakota Humanities Council scholar to facilitate discussion. The South Dakota Humanities Council printed

"Ordinary Grace" in several communities this summer as part of his One Book Author Tour.

Raised in the Cascade Mountains of Oregon, William Kent Krueger briefly attended Stanford University — before being kicked out for radical activities. After that, he logged timber, worked construction, tried his hand at freelance journalism, and eventually ended up researching child development at the University of Minnesota.

He currently makes his living as a full-time author. He's been married for more than 40 years to a marvelous woman who is an attorney. He makes his home in St. Paul. His work has received a number of awards, including the Minnesota Book Award, the Loft-McKnight Fiction Award, the Anthony Award, the Barry Award, the Dilys Award, and the Friends of American Writers Prize. His last five novels were all New York Times bestsellers. "Ordinary Grace", his stand-alone novel published in 2013, received the Edgar Award, given by the Mystery Writers of America in recognition for the best novel published in that year.

The One Book South Dakota events in Vermillion are made possible by the generous support of the Edith B. Siegrist Vermillion Public Library Board of Trustees, the Friends of the Vermillion Public Library, and the South Dakota Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities. The South Dakota Humanities Council is a non-profit organization founded in 1972 whose sole mission is to deliver humanities programming to the people of South Dakota.

The Edith B. Siegrist Vermillion Public Library is located at 18 Church Street in Vermillion. For more information call the Library at 605-677-7060.
