again served as the team's setters, while a back line that includes seniors Allison Tramp and Bre Allen has provided leadership.
 Crofton has had to work Tramp back into the fold after an injury, while Allen, the libero, has emerged as one of the key leaders, her coach said.

That overall team experience was on full display in the critical moments Thursday.

"Experience is like a million bucks," coach Johnson said.

It was Arens who provided the clinching kill in the fifth set, eliciting a wild celebration in the Crofton gym.

On the other hand, Pierce — which hasn't reached the state volleyball tournament since 2003 — also looks to have the pieces in place for a special season.

 That's a position Crofton is rather familiar with.

for 140 yards in a junior varsity win this week.

With a third of the regular season now completed, certain things have emerged for the Bucks. What stands out through three games?

"That there's a lot of room for improvement," Likness said. "But I like our attitude. Our kids are really working hard and they want to get better, and that's half the battle."

Run Over In Week 1, Vikings Try To Rebound Vs. Lions

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings and their defensive-minded head coach spent all offseason focusing on improving a run defense that was among the worst in the league.

After getting run over by Carlos Hyde and the San Francisco 49ers in the season opener, a humbled defense reconvened on Wednesday with few answers for what went wrong.
